Mississippi College
Tribesman 2007
Volume 101

18 August 2006

Well, it's time for another year to start. It seems like summer just flew by. Today I moved back into the dorm, and it was HECTIC, but I am so glad to be back! Tomorrow I'm helping with freshman and transfer move-in. I remember moving in as a freshman and how nervous I was, so I'm excited I'll be there tomorrow to meet the new students and help calm their fears.

Classes start on Wednesday; I think I'm really going to like them all, but the course load is sure to kick my tail! All those hours of studying in the library...but I won't be studying all the time. Welcome Week is going to be a BLAST! I'm so pumped about seeing Chris Rice in concert. Speaking of Chris Rice, I am really looking forward to getting involved with my church again. The Backyard Brawl should be fun, too. Hopefully we'll beat the pants off Millsaps this year! Rush will also start in a few weeks--rush skits are going to be great!

I've been trying to organize my room and--Wait, the fire alarms are going off! Guess we're having ANOTHER fire drill. Some things never change...

Whew, glad that's over! Anyway, Homecoming will be here in a few weeks, and between Follies, the parade, the game, and the dance, the campus should really come to life that weekend! The basketball season is about to start, too. Our teams are so good--I love going to the games! I hope we make it to the finals.

I'm so glad we get fall break this year! After all that's going on, I'll really need a break from EVERYTHING! My birthday will be that weekend, so it will be really nice to spend it at home with my family and friends whom I don't see very often.

I'm also really looking forward to November. Why? Because it's FORMAL! It's always one of the highlights of my semester, getting away from campus with my best friends and going to a fun city for the weekend. Thanksgiving break is also right around the corner, and while it is TOO SHORT, I am thrilled that I will get to spend some time with the fam' and eat some good ol' turkey, dressing, dumplings, cranberry sauce, and of course, sweet potato pie. My stomach is growling just thinking about it!

I better enjoy the break as much as I can, cause when I get back all I'll be doing is studying for finals...ugh! A few good things about finals, though: late night trips to Wendy's and Taco Bell, the never-ending Waffle House vs. IHOP debate, and listening to the angelic voices of the Singers during the Festival of Lights. My first few finals shouldn't be too bad, but my hardest two are back to back on the same day! That always manages to happen to me...but it's okay because that will just make Christmas break all the more special.

Dedication

Dr. Rob Ward is an Assistant Professor of Psychology and a counselor in MC's Counseling and Testing Center. Primarily, he teaches Experimental Psychology, Psychology of Learning and Psychology of the Exceptional Child. He was born in Jackson, Ms and grew up in Laurel, Ms. He currently lives in Madison, Ms with his wife, Karen, and their daughter, Mary Kennedy, along with their dogs, Godiva, Samson and Isabelle. Dr. Ward is an alumnus of Mississippi College, having graduated in 1988 with his B.S. and B.A. While here, he was a member of Circle K men's club and was a Kissimmee Tribe bean. After graduating from MC, he went on to receive his M.S. in Counseling Psychology and Ph.D. in School Psychology from the University of Southern Mississippi. He also completed a clinical psychology internship at Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City, Missouri in 1997.

Dr. Ward returned to MC in 2004 when offered a teaching job in the Psychology Department. After arriving here, he was asked by Dr. Wagner to join him in the Counseling Center.

When asked why he loves what he does here at MC, he responded, "Seeing the students grow in confidence and autonomy, as well as take ownership of their learning experience. That's why I do what I do." Being very thankful for the wonderful advantages that he enjoys here, Dr. Ward says being able to teach and counsel in the same place is such a blessing. He can build relationships with students while teaching and engaging them in the field of Psychology, while also counseling individuals through the Counseling Center. "This campus offers so much convenience for me. I can teach, practice and maintain my counseling skills and add to my knowledge base by consulting with Dr. Wagner, all the while challenging my personal goals at the Healthplex."

When Dr. Ward is not here on campus, he enjoys hunting and working in his wood shop. He also has a fondness toward gardening. One of his true joys is doing home improvement projects with his wife and daughter. "It is so fun to allow Mary Kennedy to learn by doing such things as using a drill, loading bullets and driving. She enjoys it and so do I." He really enjoys eating dinner on the patio and pergola he and his wife built together and says that "the girls really like to travel and so do I, once we get there!" Dr. Ward would give this bit of encouragement, "You are wonderfully made. You have strengths and weaknesses and together we can all achieve more than we can alone."

"What does that mean?"

Mississippi College President

Welcome to this year's edition of the yearbook, The Journal. You're intended to experience this yearbook as a journal written from a student's perspective, recording thoughts, experiences, and events of interest throughout the year.

I do not know if you have ever kept a journal. Speaking from firsthand experience, I can tell you that it can be a fascinating exercise. As you engage life and record your thoughts, you can look back over the months and years and see what was of importance to you and whether it still matters. A journal can reveal your innermost thoughts and concerns, if you are honest, and chart your progress in becoming a better Christian. Any journal I would write of my years so far at MC would certainly include the significance I have experienced as I have passed back and forth near Dr. Gore's statuary group of Christ washing the feet of the disciples. In fact, I don't need even to leave my office to be reminded of Christ's call to servant leadership. I have a painting of the statuary group on my office wall by Becky Barnett, one of MC's MFA graduates.

I hope you will allow this journal yearbook to remind you of the best that is MC and to encourage you toward that reflection so necessary if we are to become better followers of Christ. So start your own journal, and enjoy this one.

Vice Presidents

Dr. Jim Turcotte

Dr. Danny Rutland

Dr. Eric Pratt

Dr. Ron Howard

Dr. Debbie Norris

The many tasks associated with running Mississippi College are delegated among our seven Vice Presidents. Steven Stanford is the VP for Student Affairs and Government Relations, Ron Howard is the VP for Academic Affairs, Eric Pratt is the VP for Christian Development, Danny Rutland is the VP for Advancement, Debbie Norris is the VP for Planning and Assessment, Lloyd Roberts is the VP for Administration, and Jim Turcotte is the VP for Enrollment Services.

Mr. & Miss Mississippi College

Marcy McDonald, an Elementary Education major, is the daughter of Martha McDonald and the late Wayne McDonald. A native of Crystal Springs, Mississippi, Marcy has been an active member of Laguna Social Tribe and has also been very involved with MC's Intramurals. Marcy chose to come to MC for a very similar reason that other students have chosen to come here. Marcy said, "It just felt right. In the end, I really liked the small atmosphere". One of the memories from MC that Marcy says she will take with her forever are from living on hall two north her Freshman year. "The memories there are incredible and endless!" After graduation, Marcy plans on furthering her education by getting her Masters in Education and begin teaching elementary kids. As a last piece of advice to MC students, Marcy leaves with this, "Enjoy everyday you have here and don't take anything for granted".

Robby Followell, a Graphic Design major, is this year's Mr. MC. Hailing from Meridian, Mississippi, Robby is the son of Bob Followell and Janet Followell. When asked why he came to MC Robby replied, "From the time I began high school, I just felt this drawing to MC for no other reason than it was a desire God was building inside of me". Robby's love for MC is evident as he is involved in several different clubs and organizations, is an active member of Shawreth Men's Club and is also a beau for Swannanoa Social Tribe. Some of Robby's favorite memories at MC span from duets in the community showers of Whittington to adventures atop MC's tallest structure. After graduation, Robby plans on sticking close to MC and staying in the Clinton area while pursuing a career in photography or another form of publishing. As a final piece of advice for MC students, Robby says, "As one of my closest friends would advise: live life huge; and, while doing so, reflect the glory of our Father with all that you are".

Founder's Award

Michael Ward
Business Administration

"This award was established in 1974 by a group of three alumni and is to be conferred annually upon the senior who, in the judgment of a committee representative of the entire College family, has made a significant contribution to the student life of the College and exemplifying the ideals for which the College was founded - specifically in the quality of living, in leadership and in service."

This year's recipient, Michael Ward, provides significant contributions to MC through his active roles on the SGA over the years and in his good academic standing, as well as in other leadership and service roles.

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges

"Sixty-four outstanding Mississippi College students have been selected for inclusion in the 2006-2007 edition of Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges, a publication that is reserved for outstanding campus leaders. Students are chosen based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success."

Welcome Week:

19 August-25 August 2006

A bright, hot Saturday welcomed new students to our campus. Freshmen and transfers swarmed MC's grounds, turning the campus into a hub of activity and signaling the beginning of Welcome Week. After finally settling into their new dorm rooms, students had the opportunity to attend the Welcome Week kick-off in Swor, meet their Welcome Week groups, and hang out on the piazza with SGA members while enjoying Coke floats.

Students enjoy a picnic at Pearl River Park .

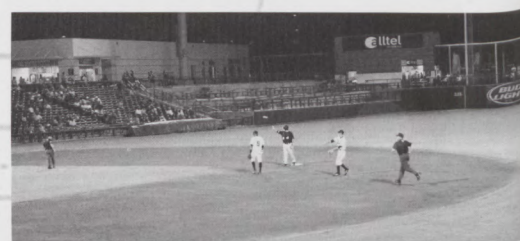

Sunday, students were invited to area churches in the morning, and to MC's picnic and campus-wide worship on the quad that evening. Featured speakers were Dr. Royce, BSU director Christy Carley, and RUF director Joey Wright. Students learned about a wide variety of campus organizations at Clubs in the Caf on Monday.

MC Students hang out at the Mississippi Braves Game.

That evening they enjoyed a picnic at Pearl River Park, followed by an exciting Mississippi Braves game at Trustmark Park. A great crowd was there to root for the home team on that beautiful evening, but the Mississippi Braves unfortunately lost 3-2.

Tuesday offered more opportunities for the new students to learn more about and get involved in campus life. There was a scavenger hunt on campus that afternoon, followed by the BSU's annual Welcome Back ice cream party. This gave students one last carefree night before classes began on Wednesday.

SAFE!!!!

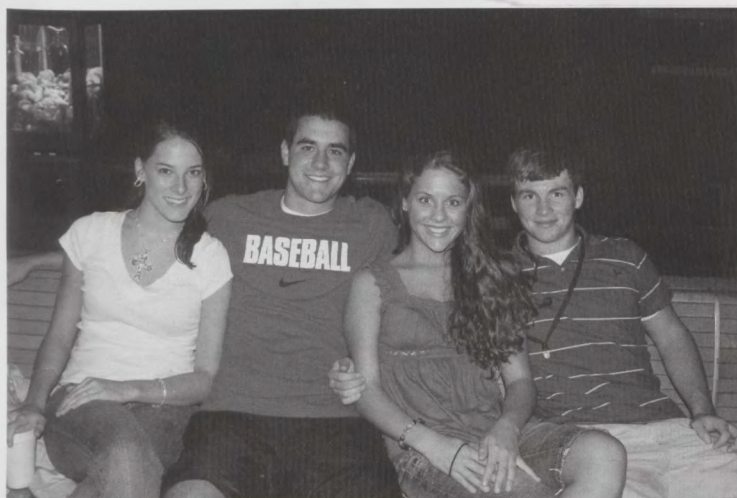

The BSU Leadership Team prepares for their annual Welcome Back Party.

The following night, area churches sponsored the annual Progressive Dinner, where students enjoyed good homemade food and learned more about how to get involved in each church's college ministry. Thursday was also abuzz with excitement, as the campus welcomed artists Chris Rice, Fireworks over London, and local band, Tandem to campus to lead in worship and unite the hearts of the students Welcome Week was rounded out on Friday, as Indian Lanes sponsored MC Night, where students got a great discount to bowl and hang out with their Welcome Week groups and new friends. Other students opted to join the BSU's Back to School Retreat at Lake Forest Ranch. This brought Welcome Week to a close, but only until next year!

Some of my favorite pics from welcome week:

Kaleb Rogers takes the opportunity to show off his bowling skills, while Allison Browning tries her skills at one-armed bowling.

Backyard Brawl:

The Choctaws played their first game of the season against the school's long-time rival, the Millsaps Majors, over Labor Day weekend at Harper-Davis Field in Jackson. The team dominated the Majors for the whole game, hopefully giving us a glimpse of what is in store for the rest of the season. Quarterback Adam Shaffer threw five touchdowns in the first half and Clint Champagne had six tackles, just for starters! Our guys held Millsaps to only 58 yards for the game and intercepted 4 passes. This blowout victory was very exciting for both the football team and all who support them! Go Choctaws!

Off-Campus:

A group of girls spends the day dominating the guys in a head-to-head game of paintball.

Everyone needs a little time away from "the Bubble" every now and then. Students find respite from campus life by indulging in a variety of activities. These range from shopping at Target and the malls, to resting and relaxing at the Reservoir. Eating out is another favorite for MC students. Go figure! Nagoya is a big hit, as well as McAlister's locally and coffee shops like Starbucks and Cups. Area churches also offer a variety of fun weekend activities, like karaoke nights, retro skate nights, hayrides, and a myriad of other exciting opportunities. Going to the movies is another favorite pastime for MC students, as are bowling, biking, and hitting the paintball courses. We all need to get out of town sometimes, too, and New Orleans' French Quarter is a popular destination, as are locales such as Memphis and Birmingham. No matter what someone is looking to do, they are sure to find it within a stone's throw, or at least a spontaneous road-trip, away!

Ben Ivey, Reuben Oates, Adriane Stephenson, Robbie Brown, and Scott Vickers enjoy some E & L Bar-B-Que.

A group of MC students make their annual trek to the Dinner Bell, a restaurant in McComb, MS, famed for their home-cooked meals served on lazy susans.

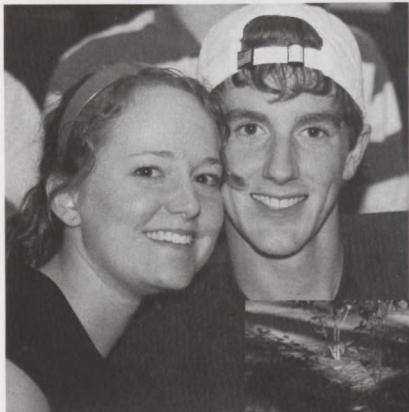

Heidi Hart and Jessica Niemeyer enjoy a cold day of shopping at Wolfchase Galleria in Memphis, TN.

Chris Chrismond and Brandon Magers enjoy a slurpee at a Mississippi Braves baseball game.

Campus Life:

Corey Vander Molen and Marie Elmore share a kodak moment.

After a long day at the tailgate, Laura Dillard and Tori Card give a big smile for the camera.

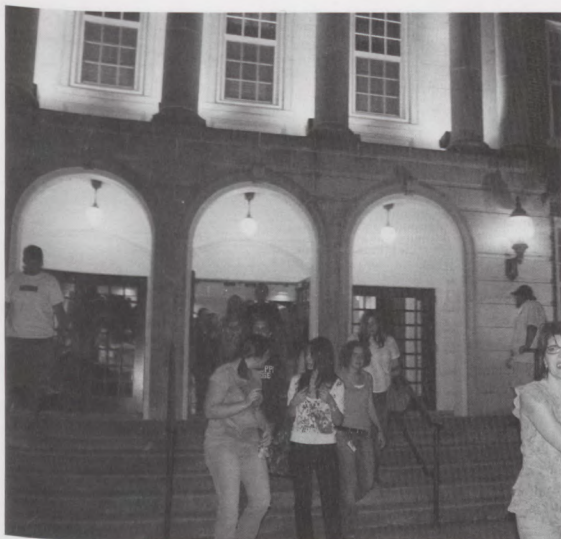

The campus of Mississippi College is always a flurry with various activities in which the students may participate. Whether it is an organized event such as a concert, athletic game, Chinese Moon Festival, or even a blood drive, students have a vast array of choices as to how to spend their time. There are also more "spur of the moment" events, such as an afternoon game of ultimate frisbee on the quad, getting together with some friends to play and sing music, or laying out on the deck of New Women's to get a tan. No matter what is happening on a particular day, MC students maintain a very active "campus life!"

Girls discuss an enjoyable evening performance in Swor.

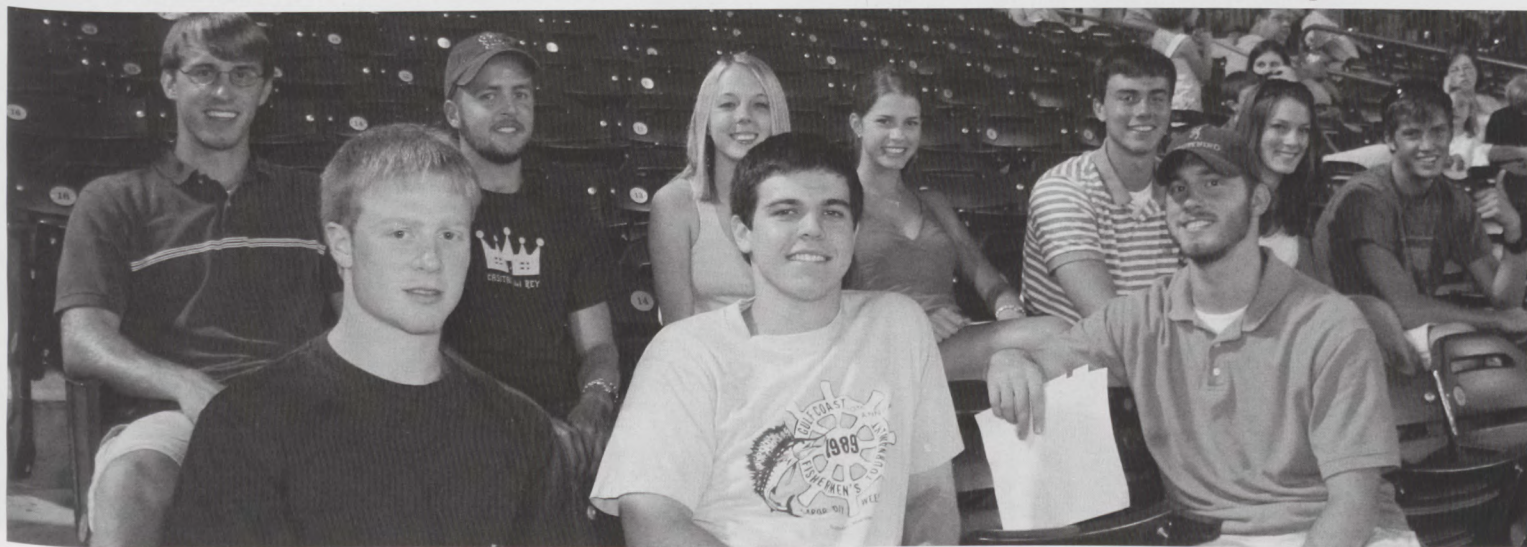

Several students enjoy a beautiful afternoon of playing the guitar on the quad before going to support their Choctaw football team.

Students catch up with friends they haven't seen all summer at the BSU Welcome Back Party.

Alisha Smith invites her friends to join her for a delicious meal on the quad.

Mississippi Braves fans wait patiently for the game to start.

Dorm Life:

With the majority of students attending MC living in the dorms on campus, dorm life becomes a fun and exciting part of the college experience. Whether sharing a bathroom with a suitemate or living on a hall where everybody knows your name, it is almost inevitable that the dorm will become a place of closeness. The Residence Life staff also assists in getting to know your "neighbors" with different hall events. Many friendships, memories and fun times are had in the dorms at MC - students' home away from home.

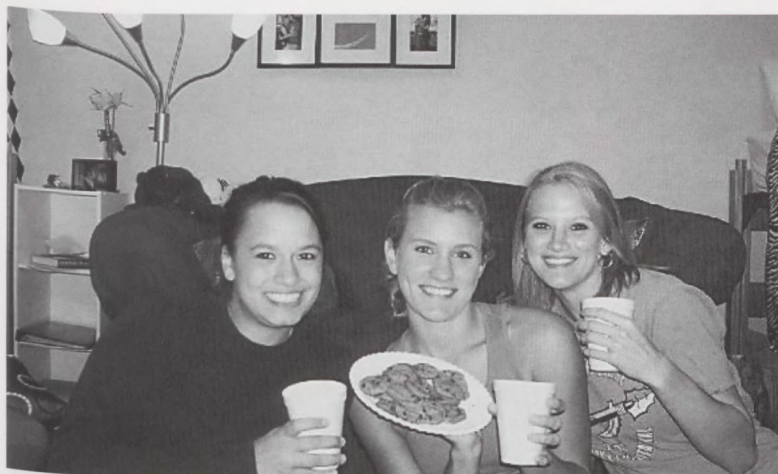

Scott Vickers appears to be knapping some tasty Krispy Kreme donuts.

Amy Scarborough and Elizabeth Halford dance it up in the dorm.

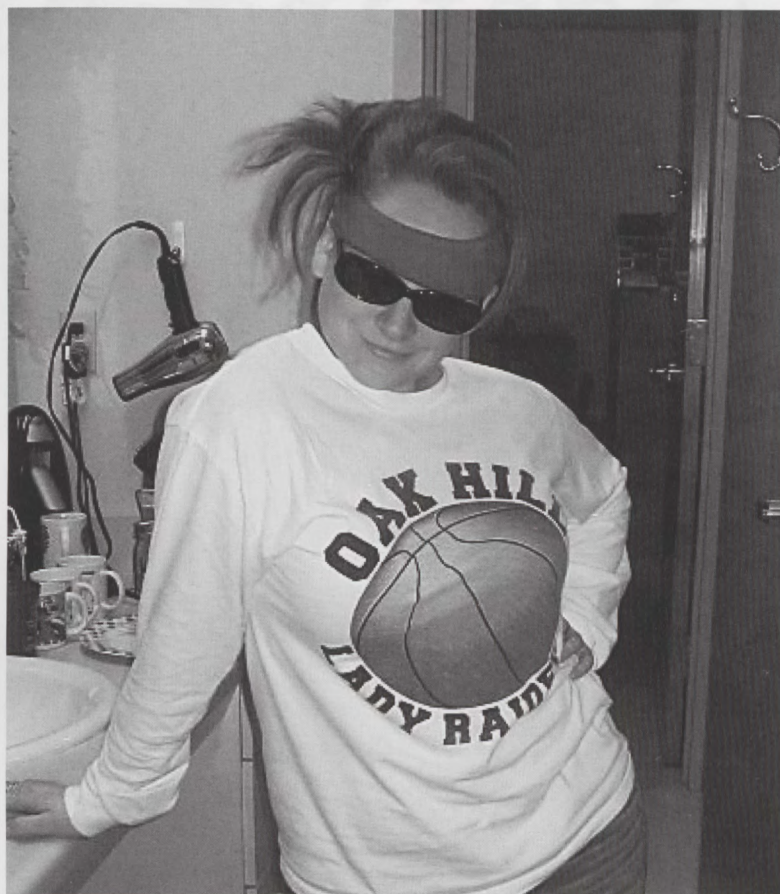

Dana Chance, Liz Laubenberg and Cara Greenwell enjoy cookies and milk.

Dana Lancaster and BethAnne Clark show their power.

Amanda Whitehead and Jenny Magee are ready for Christmas.

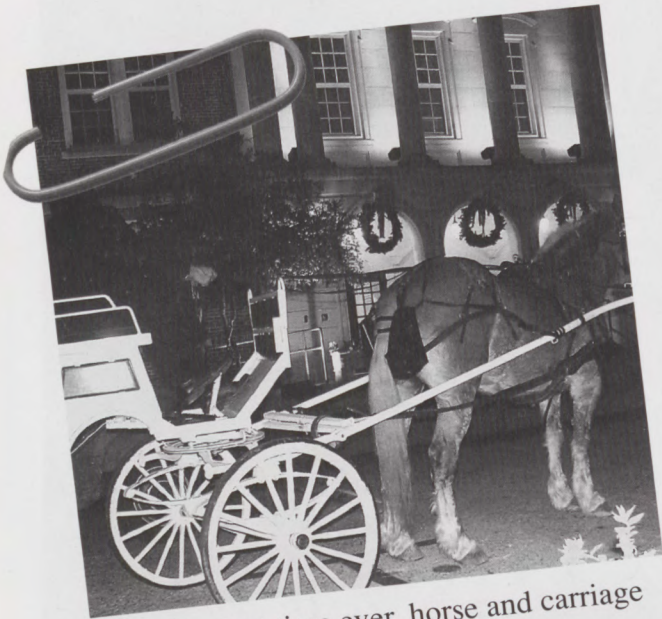

Paige Hill struts her stuff while having some fun in the dorm.

Katie Johnson and Anna Claire Lilly show their muscles in the dorm hall way.

Lighting of the Quad:

For the first time ever, horse and carriage rides were available.

Christmas cheer abounds even in the dorm rooms of Chrestman Hall.

MC's beautiful Christmas tree stands tall in the middle of The Quad for all to see throughout the holiday season.

Each person in attendance held a lit candle during the ceremony.

Though the weather wasn't as cold as some had hoped, the excitement of Christmas still filled the air as MC students and Clinton community members joined together to celebrate the annual Lighting of the Quad. Those in attendance sipped hot chocolate and sang along to their favorite Christmas carols with Priority and Adopted, two BSU performing arts groups, and listened to the timeless Christmas story read by Dr. VanHorn. For the first time, students were also able to embark on a horse and carriage ride through Old Town Clinton and enjoy the Christmas decorations. The ceremony concluded as the Quad was illuminated with hundreds of Christmas lights and candles, with a Christmas tree proudly displayed at the Quad's center. Afterwards, the crowd was invited to Provine Chapel to hear performances by both the MC Chorale and Mixed Company, a jazz ensemble. The concert was followed by a showing of "The Grinch" on the Quad. Lighting of the Quad ignited that inner Christmas spark in all of us and reminded us that our much-anticipated break was right around the corner!

Kelly Nye and Daniel Mortimer share great times while at The Lighting of the Quad.

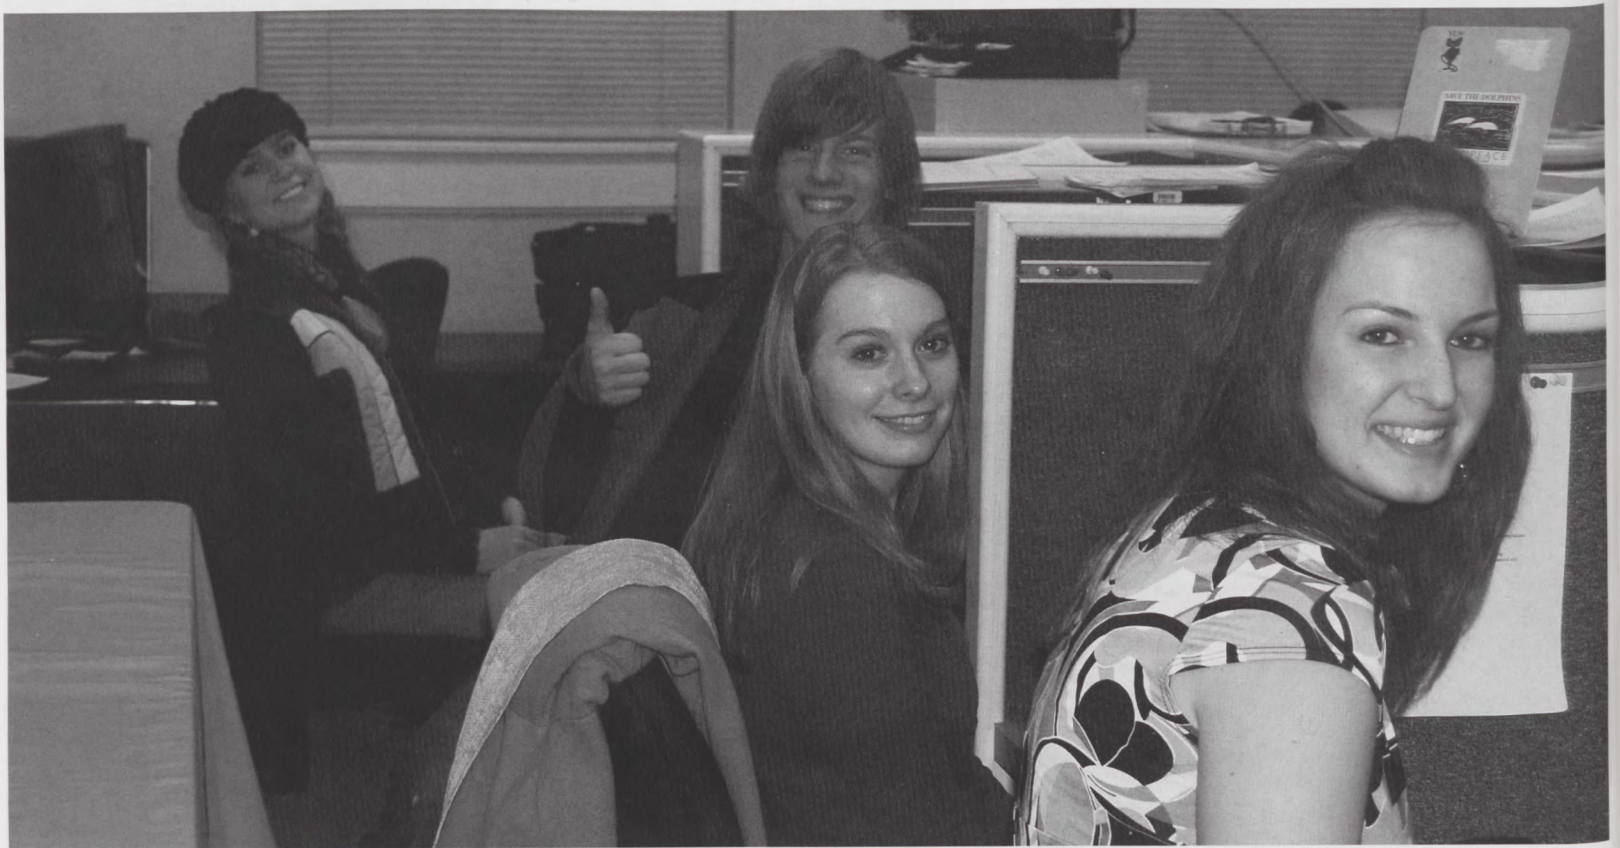

The Quad was lit beautifully with strand of Christmas lights along the walkways, wrapped around the light poles and on the tree.

Seth Price and Sam Roberts lead the crowd in Christmas carols.

Student Workers:

Carrie Kirk, Will Caves, Rebecca Harmon and Amy Hamilton work hard in the Telecenter of the Admissions office.

Stop in and see Amanda Holliday at the bookstore for great MC apparel.

Mississippi College is known for its willingness to help students in every way possible financially. One of the methods employed by the school with the aid of the federal government is to hire student workers all across campus as a means of subsidizing the loans that students from all walks of life acquire by attending MC. Individual departments take on student workers, in the form of office workers, lab assistants, and a variety of other tasks. Lobby workers are also hired to work in the lobbies of each dorm from 3-midnight every day so that students can congregate there to study, watch television, or play games. Through these opportunities, both Mississippi College and students alike benefit greatly from working together to achieve common goals.

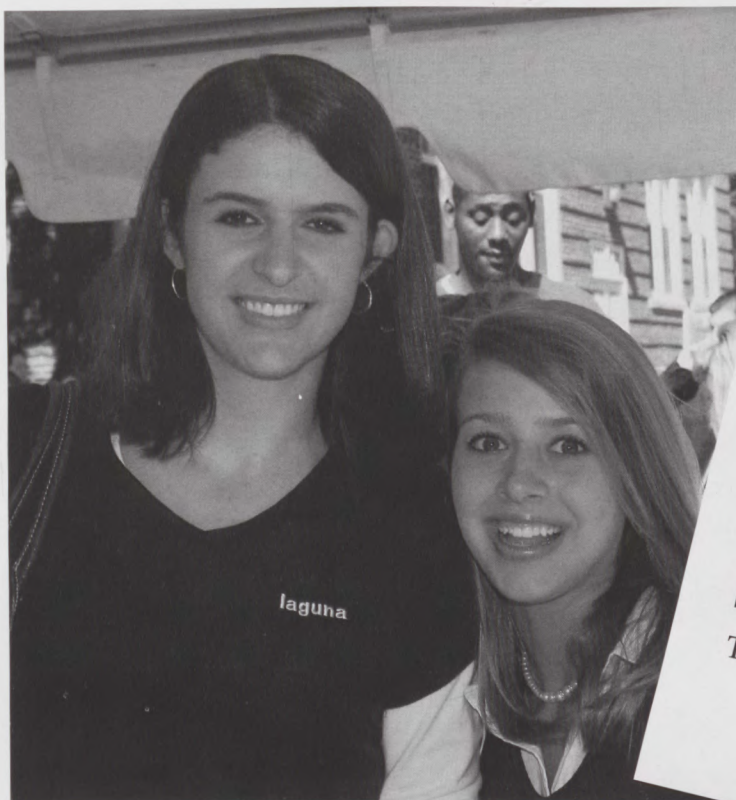

Elizabeth Wallace works hard in the Psychology office.

Family Day:

Laguna girls say "cheese".

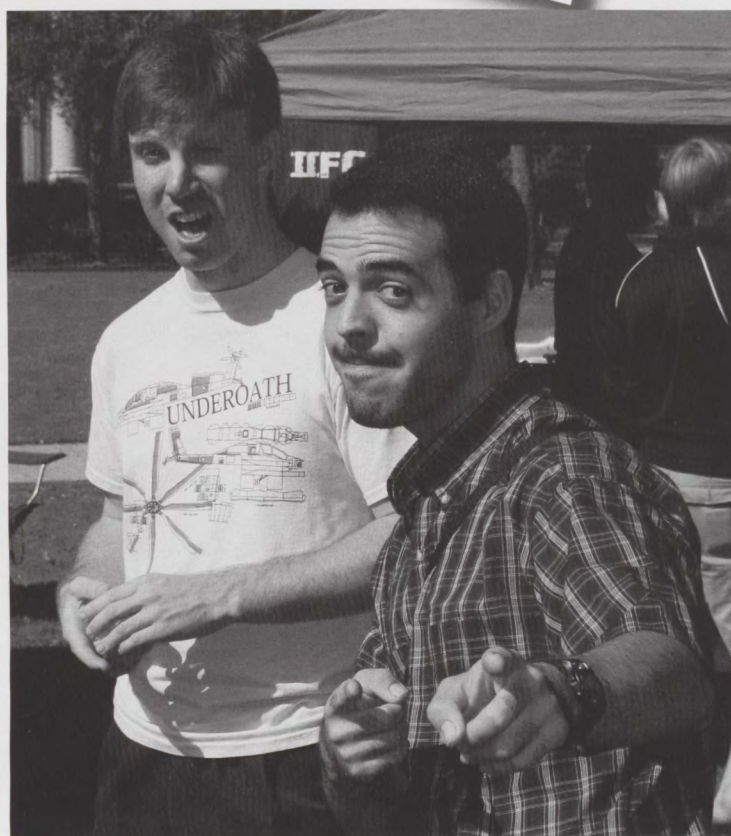

The Beasley family shows their support for MC.

Ross Aven and Rick Hartfield hold down the fort.

Staying busy with classes, being active on campus or being from out of town, many MC students do not have the opportunity to see their families as much as they would like. To take a break from school kicking into gear, students' parents are invited to come on campus and spend time with their son or daughter at MC during Family Day. After many walks around campus, a visit to the campus bookstore and a good lunch, MC's students and their parents are invited to attend a home football game. After a fun-filled day, MC's students and their families depart from each other once again and the Thanksgiving break is looked forward to even more.

Students and their families mingle in the quad before the football game.

Preview Day:

Interested girls inquire about MC's cheerleading program.

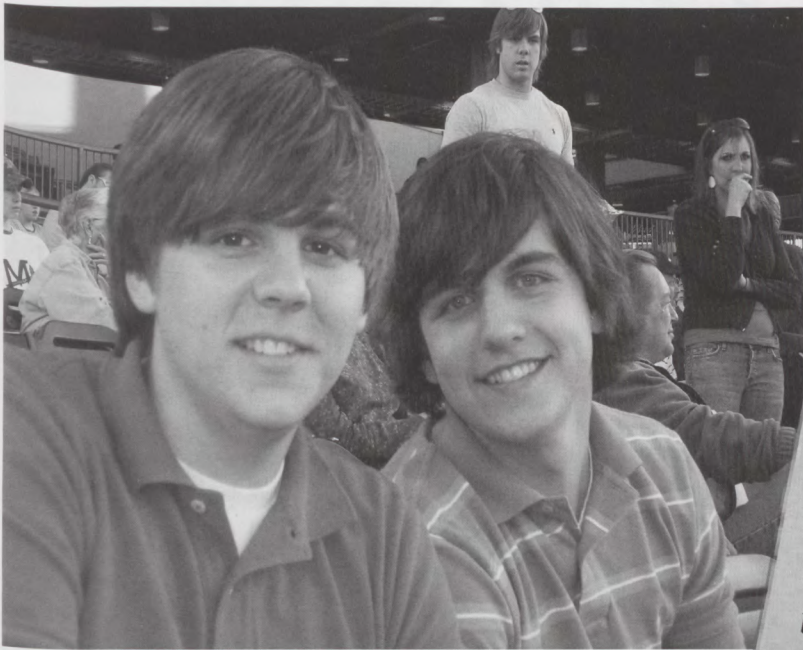

Dr. Cannon discusses the Science department with a prospective student and her mother.

Students enjoy a cup of hot chocolate while greeting others during the Academic Marketplace.

Orientation:

Garrett May and Jordan Crocker give a grin at the baseball game.

Making the transition from high school to college can be exciting and overwhelming. Thankfully, MC has a great group of students to help guide and ease that transition. The Scouts, MC's knowledgeable staff of student recruiters keep busy with assisting potential students and their families by giving guided, informative tours of the campus as well as answer many questions prospective students may have. Getting to interact with one of the Scouts by touring the campus is a great experience for a potential MC student. Once an MC student, Orientation for new freshmen begins and a group of Orientation leaders steps in to help. The Orientation leaders provide another student outlet for the freshmen to form new bonds and become comfortable with all the excitement and new-ness of MC.

David Nichols shows the danger of playing with scissors.

SGA Activities:

Josh Maze and David Nasser lead Mosaic, a campus-wide worship experience.

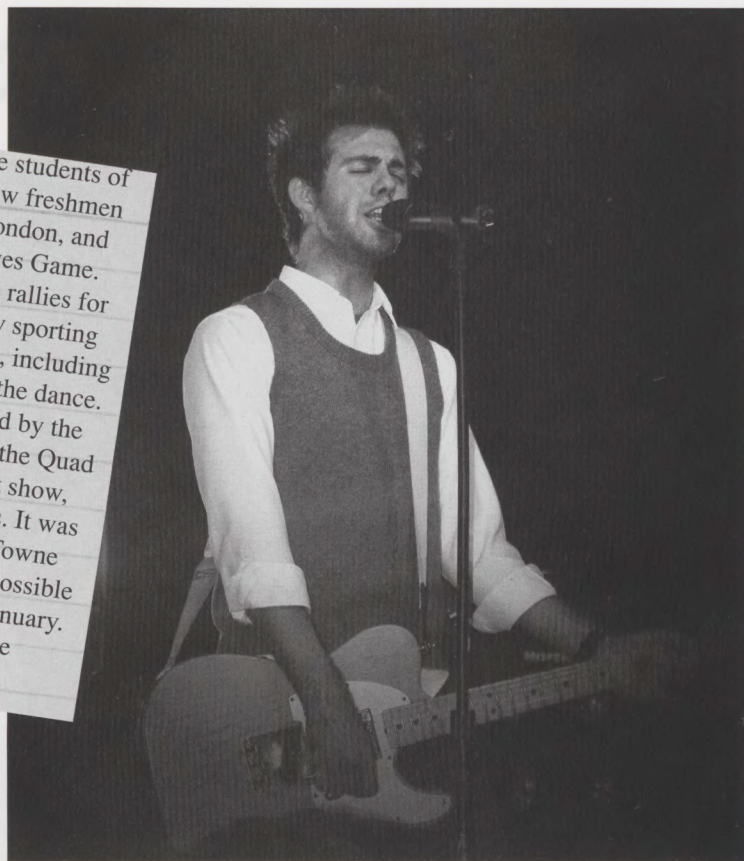

Tyler Ball, Ben Gardner, and Lane Beasley concentrate on their Halo game on the new Plasma TVs in the caf during the Cram Jam.

Robert Chisolm of Jonzetta rocks out in Swor.

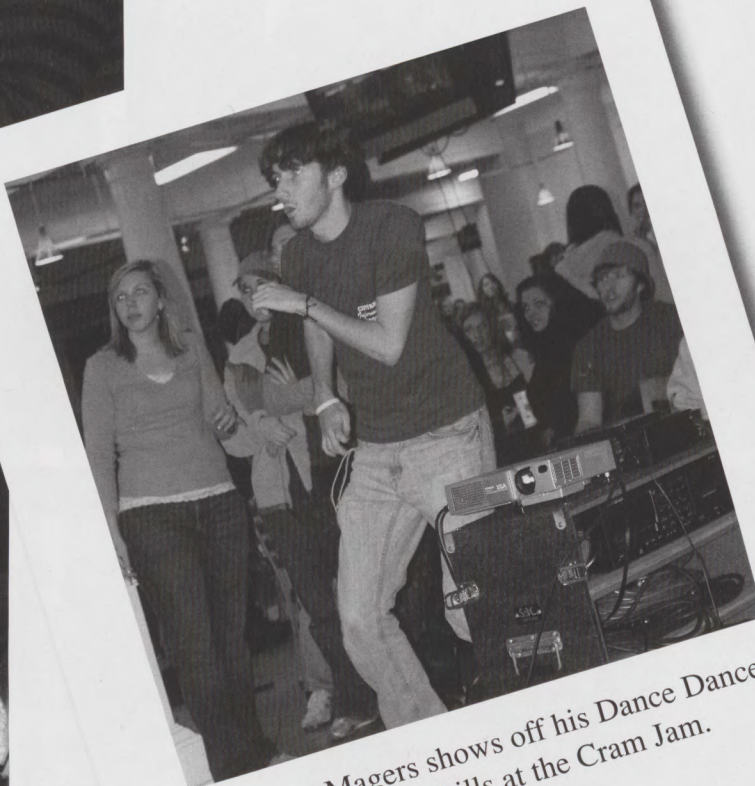

The SGA has put much time and effort into planning fun activities for the students of Mississippi College this year. They sponsored Welcome Week for the new freshmen and transfers, which featured a concert by Chris Rice, Fireworks over London, and Tandem. Welcome Week also included a cookout and a Mississippi Braves Game. The SGA also administered all campus elections. They also organized pep rallies for various sports teams, as well as tailgates and other fun events before many sporting events. In addition to sports, SGA also directed all Homecoming Activities, including Follies, the Follies after-party, the parade, the tailgate before the game, and the dance. For the first time, Family Day was made into an entire Family Weekend, led by the Women's and Men's Affairs Board Chairpersons. In addition, to a picnic on the Quad and a performance by the Naturals, families were also able to enjoy a talent show, which capped off the weekend. Lighting of the Quad was also a huge success. It was followed by a showing of "The Grinch" and carriage rides throughout Old Towne Clinton. There have been other movie nights as well, featuring "Mission: Impossible 3" and "Batman Begins." The SGA also sponsored the Jonezetta concert in January. That was a big hit! The members of the SGA have worked tirelessly for the student body of MC.

Tandem's lead singer, Josh Maze, sings a hit song.

The Jonezetta drummer, Mick Parsons, sets the beat for the band and the crowd.

Excited fans crowd the stage at the Tandem concert.

Internationals:

In recent years, Mississippi College has become home to a plethora of international students from more than 20 different countries. These students bring a cultural diversity to our campus like no one else can. American students and international students enjoy the chance to meet and learn from one another. International students are introduced to the American cultural and educational system, and American students learn about international cultures in return.

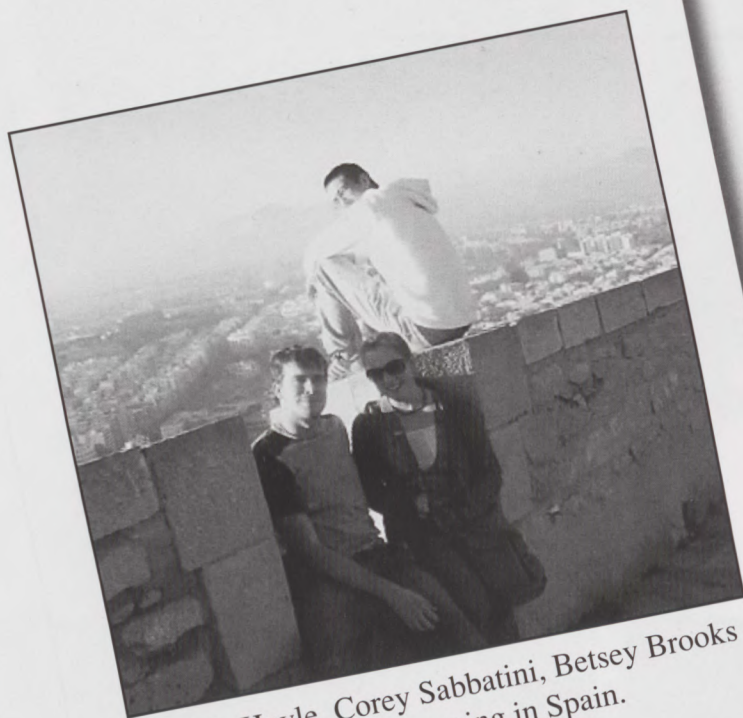

MC students are provided an opportunity to better learn about these other cultures by becoming "conversation partners" with an international student. These students meet weekly to spend time together and learn more about each other. This year, MC's social tribes and service clubs even held an International Rush Event, where all international students were invited to learn more about the different tribes and service clubs and join one if they chose to do so. International students also put on an International Flag Ceremony. MC is bursting with international life!

Study Abroad:

Many students have the chance to travel overseas and study in a foreign country. The Study Abroad Program enables students to travel, have fun and further their education at the same time. Year-round opportunities to travel are available and many of the students that have chosen to participate in the Program have come back with a wealth of knowledge unbeknownst prior to their experiences.

Community Service:

Students work at the round tables to create a fun project to take to their parents.

The Community Service center was established by Dr. Ron Howard in 1997 through Americore and was originally called Campus Link. In the last decade this vital tool to our campus has grown immensely, now working with over eighty agencies. Some of the most popular among students are the Baptist Children's Village, the 4 C's, the Ronald MacDonald House, and Stewpot Ministries. This year the Community Service Center, along with Dr. Sam Anderson established the Think Together program, which offers tutoring services to underprivileged children in apartment complexes.

Jazzman's:

Sky Ranch Grill:

Each of MC's three eating locations on campus have received a major facelift this school year, both in physical appearance and in food options. The Caf now sports Choctaw blue and gold, as well as new seating areas including tables, booths, and bars. The serving lines also changed a bit, with the introduction of pizza and International cuisine lines. Pete's Arena is now Jazzman's café, providing a real "collegiate" atmosphere for MC students. Colored, leather seats and sofas, booths, and wi-fi access emphasize the relaxed mood of the café, along with the variety of coffee, pastries, and sandwiches Jazzman's offers. An outdoor seating area, complete with a stage for on-campus performances is also part of Jazzman's, too. The most recent renovation is the transformation of Hampstead's into the Sky Ranch Grill. A revamped seating area, along with plasma televisions along the wall, and an expanded menu rounds out the improvements made to the eating establishments on MC's campus this year.

The Caf:

Go outside on MC's campus and you will find the majority of "hussle and bussle" centered on The Quad. Several annual events occur on The Quad as well - I Love America Day, Lighting of The Quad and pre-football game tailgates, just to name a few. Reading and relaxing, playing ultimate Frisbee or just walking to and from class, The Quad is a central point of MC's campus.

Homecoming:

Homecoming weekend is a highly anticipated time on the MC campus. Friday night Follies kicked off the festivities, with many current students, alumni, and parents coming to watch the pledges from each Service Club and Social Tribe perform their skits. Following Follies was a concert by the Second Floor Chrestman band, with tea and cookies from McAlister's. Saturday morning continued the fun with the Homecoming parade, followed by tailgating near the football stadium. Finally, it was time for the main event -- the game itself. Our Choctaws played LaGrange College and won 33-0 in front of a huge home crowd cheering them on to their victory!

is of you."

I am from Brookhaven, MS, where I graduated from Brookhaven High school. After high school, I attended Copiah Lincoln Community College for two years and received my Associates of the Arts degree. I then transferred to Mississippi College where I graduated in December, 2006 with a degree in Business Administration. During my first semester at Mississippi College, I was a member of the MC band and for the rest of my time there I was actively involved in Reformed University Fellowship. After my first semester at Mississippi College I was given the chance of a lifetime to take up an internship with Senator Thad Cochran's Jackson office. When talking to people about my employment, they usually want to know two things. First, how did I get the job and second, what are my responsibilities? I got the job through the referral of a friend who was working as an intern in the office. To answer the second question, I am an administrative assistant. I sit at the front desk and screen all the phone calls and direct them to the different staff assistants who can provide the adequate help or if the person has a problem with which I may assist, I am more than glad to do so. I also do filing for the other staff assistants in the office, work on the computers, and last, in a joking manner, I tell people that I make the coffee.

My most memorable moment working in the office was when I met the Senator for the first time, except all I remember is being extremely nervous! The second most memorable moment I have is when I was offered a full time position on the Senator's staff. It was on the day I graduated so it was my best gift! The best benefit I have working for the Senator is that I get to see him when he comes back to Jackson from Washington, D.C.

I have learned the most through this experience that Senator Thad Cochran is such an honorable man. I have also learned how I can help the people of Mississippi with some problems they are having. Coming from a business background, I probably don't know as much as I should about politics but I am excited about how much I am going to learn in the coming years!

Tasneem Ali

One of the very first things I learned from my parents, as a Muslim, was to love God and his people regardless of anything, and treat God not as an authority; instead, as an attraction of life. As I grew up in a diverse community, this lesson became more relevant and imperative to me. It was this lesson which helped me shape the goals and ideals of my life. The torch of His guidance along with this lesson kept enlightening my paths to success. During the summer of 2004, I came to a very vital part of my life; I had to make a decision about my education. I visited several campuses, but was not satisfied. Finally, I decided to visit the MC campus. I always wanted to go to an institution which would have some kind of connection to God. After my very first visit to MC I felt the presence of God on campus. Even though, it was in a slightly different manner than my belief, but its essence was the same. I felt that this place not only has respect for God, but in fact they love God. People over here were not just Christians by name; instead, they practically follow their religion. On my way back home, I told my dad that this is the college to which I want to come. I felt that here I will be respected as a Muslim because I have a firm belief that people who are close to their religion are, in fact, the ones who respect and appreciate other religions, too. I came to MC with a positive attitude and high aspirations. It has not been a roller coaster ride, but also not a smooth one either. Many people ask me what it is like being a Muslim on a Christian campus. I would say it feels like being different, being an ambassador of my faith, being a window to my world, sometimes being out of place, sometimes facing rejections and dealing with stares, sometimes looking at eyes full of questions, or maybe meeting people who treat me as an alien from Mars but still want to be my friend. Coming to MC was definitely quite a positive learning experience for me. People on campus who have interacted with me have given tremendous respect to me and to my beliefs, but there had been times when I did feel a lack of belongingness. Overall I would say I had a wonderful time at MC. Different kinds of people I have met here and the friendships I have made are definitely the best gift MC has given to me. MC has both personally and professionally groomed me a lot. I chose Education as my major to widen the horizons of appreciation and respect of others, and no other profession better serves my purpose than education in shaping the minds of young children. My future plan is to teach in an elementary school, and I am also planning to work towards my graduate degree.

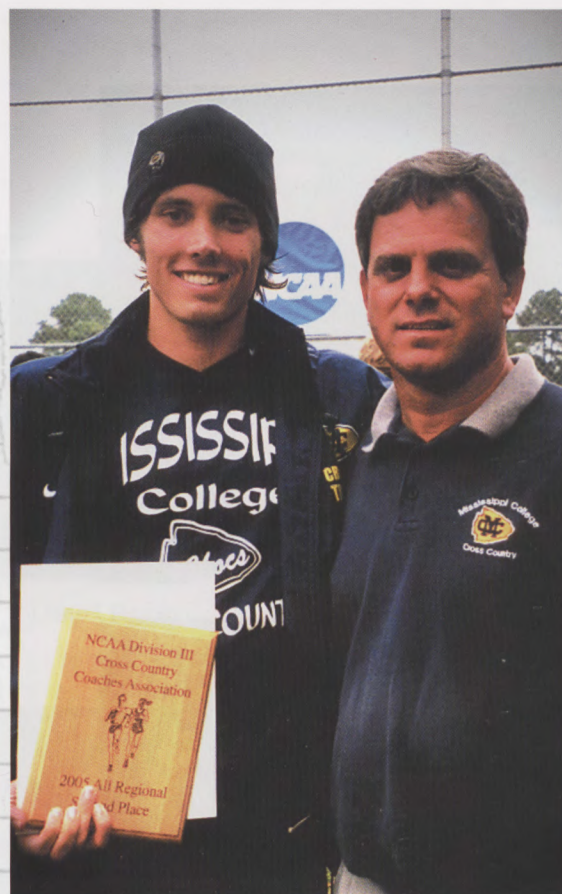

My time here at Mississippi College has been a great impact on my life, with so many worthwhile memories that will be carried with me forever. I mean, it seems like just yesterday that I was moving into my dorm for the start of my freshmen year. Man how time flies. So many late night study sessions, athletic events, and awesome conversations. I have been pretty blessed with being able to excel both athletically and academically while at Mississippi College. I know that the wonderful atmosphere filled with so many great people, both teachers and students, played a large part in my college experience. For, everyone's experience is different because college is what you make of it and thankfully I feel that I have been able to make the most of it. The Lord really has blessed me with an awesome gift to be able to run and I have been able to go many different places and meet many different people all over the nation which I would not have had the opportunity to do if I had gone to a bigger university. I also just really feel like I have made some great life-long friendships that truly are meaningful and not just superficial because people really do care about you here at Mississippi College.

Kanakuk, a Christian summer sports camp, is also another ministry that I hold dear to my heart. There I get to help coach a sport that I love (running) to younger kids and spread The Word at the same time. It has been a great experience for me to be the Campus Representative for Kanakuk on campus at Mississippi College to help bring several people to work at such an awesome place during the summer. It means a lot for people to know your name and for you to know theirs.

That is one of the keys to Mississippi College -- it is big enough yet not too big that you are just one of the crowd; all of our student body stands out in some shape or form. Lead Fellows, a sophomore leadership group on campus, also helped in my effort to continue to take pride in Mississippi College and be involved by meeting several of the administration and faculty. Civitan Service Club also helped me find a home in our Mississippi College community. With Civitan, I always had somebody I could count on for anything and I hope they feel like they can count on me, as well.

Hold nothing back and never put off 'til tomorrow what you could do today.

I am Senior Nursing major this year at Mississippi College. Originally from Monticello, Mississippi, MC has become more of a home than a place to simply obtain a degree. The friends I have made and experiences I have been through have truly left their mark and will continue with me past graduation. Nursing school, it seems, has a stigma surrounding it. It has become that place on campus where people go to disappear. Rest assured, we are all alive and well. Past all the studying, late nights, and many early mornings, nursing school has been a place for me to be able to grow in what God has called me to do. Yes, nursing school consists of many classes, clinicals at surrounding hospitals, and many difficult tests. But, it also consists of strong ties of friendship, teamwork, and a love of our future profession. While I am not allowed to share experiences about the people I've cared for, the memories that I hold close will always contain those that I've cared for and the people that I work with that I've grown to love. Nursing School is much more than classes and clinicals. The Student Nurses Association and Baptist Nursing Fellowship are two clubs available to nursing students that allow each of us to give back to the community and be proactive in our future profession. Each year, the Student Nurses Association attends a statewide conference that allows MC nursing students to run for state offices within the Mississippi Student Nurses Association. This group allows nursing students the opportunity to get involved in the ever-changing profession of nursing. The Baptist Nursing Fellowship has been involved in many community projects within surrounding areas, and gives us the opportunity to share God's love in other ways than nursing. Most of my time is spent with things surrounding Nursing School. However, during my four years at MC, I have had the opportunity to be involved in Swannanoa Social Tribe and serve as a summer missionary through the BSU at Mission Arlington in Arlington, TX. I continue to attend church at Pinelake Baptist Church, and pray that wherever I may go after graduation, that I will always take a piece of Mississippi College.

Alisha Davis

When most people hear that I work full time for an honor society for two year colleges, they are not that impressed. The mental image that many get probably consists of a lot of people with pocket protectors; that is, after all, what I thought when I first joined Phi Theta Kappa at Chattanooga State Technical Community College. As I worked with my local chapter in Tennessee those stereotypes faded, obviously so since I've worked with the organization for over three years now.

In 2002, I was elected to be one of four Vice-Presidents of Phi Theta Kappa who served as representatives to over 1200 community colleges in the U.S. Essentially it was an internship on a large scale. After the term was over, I was offered a position working at the International Headquarters in Jackson, Miss. I actually found Mississippi College by accident. After seeing the campus, I came to the conclusion that Mississippi College would be the best fit for me. The opportunities for ministry that God has blessed me with while at MC has confirmed that it is definitely the place for which God prepared me.

The job as Chapter Programs Coordinator for Phi Theta Kappa creates a multitude of opportunities. I've been able to take part in a plethora of things that I never thought I'd do, most notably, meeting numerous icons in history. Dick Clark, Patti LaBelle, Rudi Giuliani, Former Secretary of State, Madeleine Albright and Arun Ghandi, grandson of Mohandas Ghandi, are just a few of the individuals that I've been able to meet. However, what really sets my work at PTK apart from others is the opportunity to invest in the lives of others. It is a great thing when you can feel good about your job and commit to the mission of your organization. The job is not just altruistic however, we have a ton of fun with it. We've produced informational videos that parody popular television programs such as Survivor, Extreme Makeover: Home Edition, and the Apprentice. None of them will win a Golden Globe, but it's always nice to have a little fun while you work, and I've been blessed to work in an environment that lets me do that.

I am a social work major and I love every minute of it. I am a senior this year and as I remember the awesome times I have had here at MC it saddens to think this will be my last year. I have enjoyed the social work program so much and I am certain that I am where God wants me to be. I love the people in the social work office, they are truly my family. Since I have been here, I have experienced things that are out of this world. I have lots of international friends, to whom I have grown so close over the years. The international students have of way of capturing your heart that is rather hard to describe. Some of them are as close to me as my very own brothers. I would not change one moment of time that I had an opportunity to spend with them. They are truly inspirational.

I was able to go on a mission trip last summer to Australia, which changed my life. The experience of being in a foreign land is not only difficult at times but rewarding. The bonds that I made will never be broken.

MC has been a short-term home for me where I have collected friends and long-lasting memories, which I will carry with me in the next journey of my life.

I will never forget the late nights with friends (Amanda), Smallville experiences and the II Floor Chrestman parties- ALWAYS REMEMBER TO KEEP IT REAL- no matter what life throws at you.

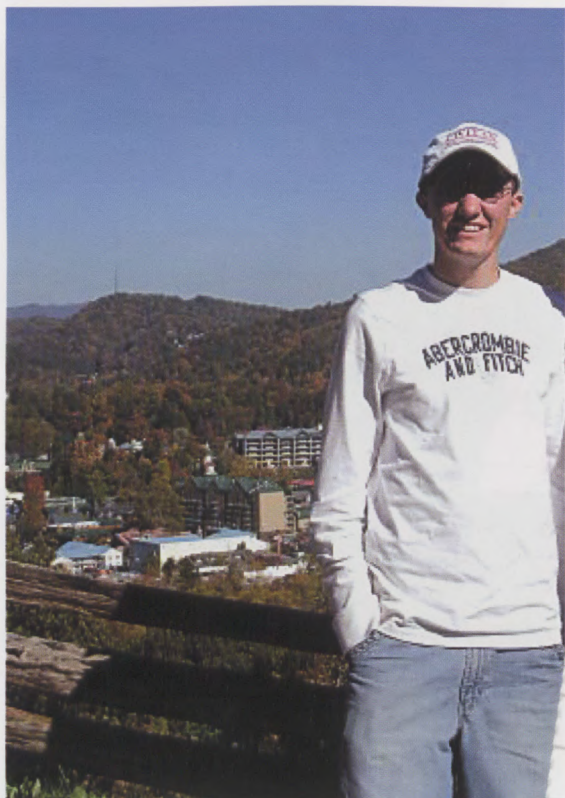

I love you all!!

Morgan Billington

Hi, for those of you who don't know me, I am Morgan Billington. I have been a patient guy and talented guy throughout my life. I like to star gaze and play the guitar and go snow skiing, but the thing that makes me unique is that I have had a fascination with the stock market. I have always been intrigued by it since I was about five, according to my grandparents. About two summers ago, I was given the privilege of working for Oppenheimer and Company in Atlanta, Georgia. I obtained the position of intern through my grandparents and friends who worked in the firm. My average day began at five o'clock in the morning as I got ready to work out and eat breakfast. After breakfast, I would drive only five miles to work, but it would take anywhere between ten minutes and an hour depending how I caught the twenty three lights between my apartment and work. I would do anything from answer the phone, talk to clients about upcoming investment opportunities and research stock. One of the scariest things while in Atlanta was the London bombings. You may ask "Why?" The reason is that I got a phone call at four in the morning from the broker for whom I was working. As I turned on the television, my broker wanted me at the office in ten minutes (he didn't care what I was wearing as long as I was there). When I arrived at the office, brokers were yelling and screaming as orders came in to sell stocks, especially in the travel industry. My job that day was to explain the situation to investors as they called to see what was going on in the market. While in Atlanta, I also played "tourist" and resident. I visited underground Atlanta, the Atlanta Braves and, of course, rode the MARTA, the subway system of Atlanta. I also got to tour the Aquarium of Georgia while it was being built before the general public was allowed to enter. I learned a substantial amount about myself while in Atlanta, especially being from a small town in Mississippi. I HIGHLY recommend that everyone should step outside of their "comfort zones" and explore the world around them rather it be in business or as a tourist. I will leave with a verse, Proverbs 10:4 - "Lazy hands make a man poor, but diligent hands bring wealth." May God continue to bless you and your family and God speed.

Hola! Me llamo Preston Dabbs. I do not know spanish.

A few of my hobbies include sleeping, playing various musical instruments, getting buff, developing modern ballets, and confirming urban myths. I have actually had the incredible opportunity of sighting bigfoot not only once, but on three separate occasions. I have twice disproved that so called "Nessy" (a giant monster believed to live in Lochness) does not exist and there is a natural explanation for the assumed sightings. While growing up in Meridian, Mississippi, I spent my summers frolicking about the small neighborhood we lived in discovering new ways to flaunt my ADD. until the ninth grade when we moved to Gulfport, life had been easy. Thats when reality hit me. High-school was a bit more difficult than middle school. Well, not really. I was homeschooled for the entire length of my pre-college career allowing me to branch out and develop my people skillz.

Since arriving at MC last fall, I have enjoyed a superfluity of fun. The people I have met in Whittington are, so far, the greatest people on the face of the Earth. MC has truly shown me my full potential and has molded me into a man of great character and of Godly inspiration. One of my greatest accomplishments thus far at this campus has involved... well, I'm not there yet. I am greatly looking forward to what will come in the future and am constantly striving for excellence.

My name is Audrey Harrison and I am a Biology major at MC. I absolutely love nature and when I was twelve years old, I experienced something very unique in the science world---I discovered an undescribed species of moth. When I was growing up, I loved insects and I attended Entomology Camp for four years. There, we collected, identified, and pinned insects, while learning all about them. One night during my second year at camp, I collected what turned out to be a previously undescribed species in the Lepidoptera Order of insects. It was an extremely small, rather plain looking brown moth that appeared to be nothing special to me. As I was pinning my insects I caught the night before, one of the head entomologists came to check them and took particular interest in that moth. He examined it very closely and explained to me that it was undescribed and asked if he could place it in the state insect collection. I agreed and he took care of naming it for me since I was so young. Finding that moth was one of my proudest moments and deepened my interest in science and nature. The moth still lies in the state collection and that experience is one I'll never forget.

I was born on November 12th in 1986 to Slater and Marsha Murphy. I was born and raised in Columbus, Mississippi and lived there until I came to Mississippi College. I was raised in Fairview Baptist Church, where my father serves as minister of music, and graduated from New Hope High School. I enjoy playing the piano and snow skiing as often as I can.

I am currently a sophomore majoring in Music with an emphasis in Piano Performance. I am an active member of the Shawreth Order. I am also a member of the 2006-2007 Baptist Student Union Leadership Team. I attend Calvary Baptist Church where I serve as accompanist for the youth choir.

In the music department, I am in the Mississippi College Singers, where I serve as tenor section leader. I am also an ambassador for the department, working as an usher at recitals, and recruiting new students. With the music department, I have had the opportunity to travel to New York City to perform in Carnegie Hall with the Singers.

This past fall the piano students traveled to England and saw the semi-final round the Leeds International Piano Competition. This spring, I plan to travel to Corpus Christi to compete in the Kingsville International Piano Competition.

Hey!! My name is Cara Elizabeth Greenwell. I am a sophomore at Mississippi College and I love it here! I am from Guntersville, Alabama, (near Huntsville,) and I have a wonderful family which consists of my parents, Kerry and Barbara Greenwell and my 16 year old sister, Catherine Greenwell. Oh, and I must not forget my two cats, Strawberry and Pie; (Mom chose the names.) My family loves to travel so I have been to almost every national park in the United States. I have even been to the BOTTOM of the Grand Canyon...yea, pretty scary. Some of my favorite places I have visited would have to be the Smokey Mountains, the Bahamas, Yellowstone National Park, and Hawaii. I have been an athlete my whole life and played many sports but I fell in love with one particular sport-- track. Why running around and around in a circle appeals to me, I do not know but I love it. So to this day, I am still running track and am still loving it. I am a sprinter so the competition is fierce and nerve-racking but I could not imagine myself doing anything else!! "When I grow up" I want to be an elementary school teacher. Yes, that is my major- Elementary Ed. I know God has called me to do this because I could not be happier! I am absolutely in LOVE with my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ and could not do anything without Him!

My name is Jay Haynes, and I'm from Talladega, Alabama. I am a Sophomore Christian Studies major. I attend Morrison Heights Baptist Church, and I am active on the leadership team in the Kaleo College Ministry. Kaleo is a Greek word meaning "called out." Kaleo focuses on helping college students find their calling in life, and then equipping them with the resources necessary to begin that ministry. There are a ton of ministry opportunities with Kaleo. I have been on several missions to the coast, and I also went to Hawaii last spring break to help set up campus ministries.

God has blessed me with great friends and Godly leaders. I also play football for MC. I love playing football, and I enjoy being part of the team. We have great coaches who are committed to the players on and off the field. To be a part of MC football is to be a part of something special. It's a family of guys who work together, year round, to accomplish a common goal.

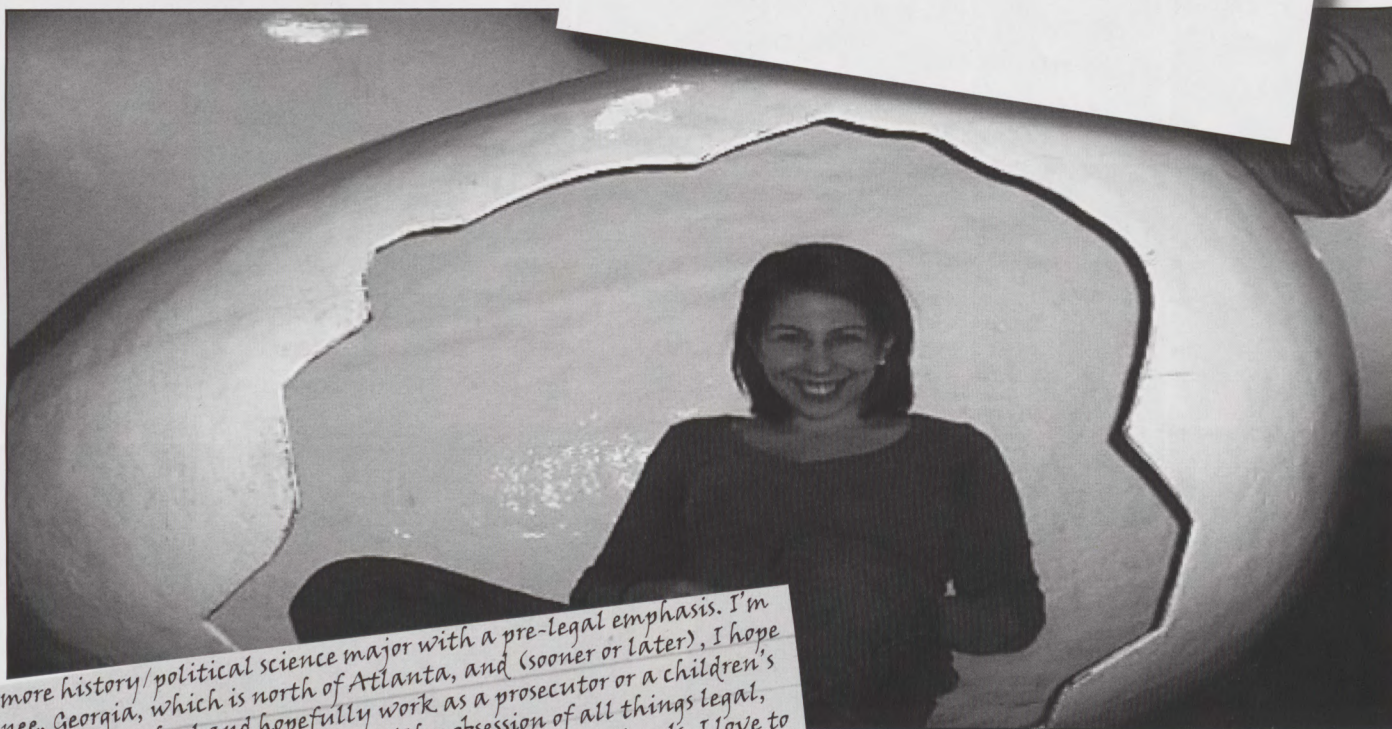

MC is an overall great experience, with great people, and I know I will build friendships that will last forever.

I'm a sophomore history/political science major with a pre-legal emphasis. I'm from Suwanee, Georgia, which is north of Atlanta, and (sooner or later), I hope to graduate from law school and hopefully work as a prosecutor or a children's advocate. I'm a movie buff with an unhealthy obsession of all things legal, either fictional or real, but my real passions are children and animals. I love to sing, read, and write, but I'm most comfortable laughing with my friends. My sisters in Swannanoa Social Tribe are a blessing and I'm so grateful for my fellow bunnies. I love to travel; I recently spent two weeks in Africa on a mission trip, and I'm looking forward to spending the Spring semester of 2008 in London on MC's London Semester! I work as an intern for an interior designer, which is both challenging and a blast at the same time. I've learned more about color patterns and wallcoverings than I ever thought was possible, but I love my job! I'm fairly spontaneous—over the summer, I took a trip up the Eastern coast, through Pennsylvania, Washington DC, and New York up to Boston. My family recently rescued a six month old Maltese puppy who immediately stolen our hearts! Zeke has completely taken over our house, like the king he thinks he is. Whatever way you look at it, I'm an easygoing person with a passion for people and laughing.

Dustin Blount

I am a Junior Sports Management major from a small town south east of Monroe, LA called Crowville. I came to MC in the Fall of 2004 to play soccer and was married at the beginning of my Sophomore year to Samantha Steven, who was an English major at MC. That is when college and my entire life came into perspective and I realized I could no longer play soccer or just live life on the edge; I had to take care of someone else and couldn't even take care of myself. Now things are much easier. I no longer play but I am very involved in intramural softball and football; I find them to be much more fun. I am also the drummer for the Kaleo College Ministry praise band and my wife and I love every minute of Kaleo events. As well as intramurals and music, my wife and I enjoy Saints games, hunting, baseball, anything outdoors, and traveling. To add to my busy schedule, I am a Clubhouse Manager for the Mississippi Braves and a Financial Sales intern at Northwestern Mutual Financial Network.

I will graduate in May of 2008 and I hope to secure a sports marketing job with another team like the Braves. When asked where I see my self in ten years I would tell someone I want to be where God has placed me and knowing I did what I should to get there.

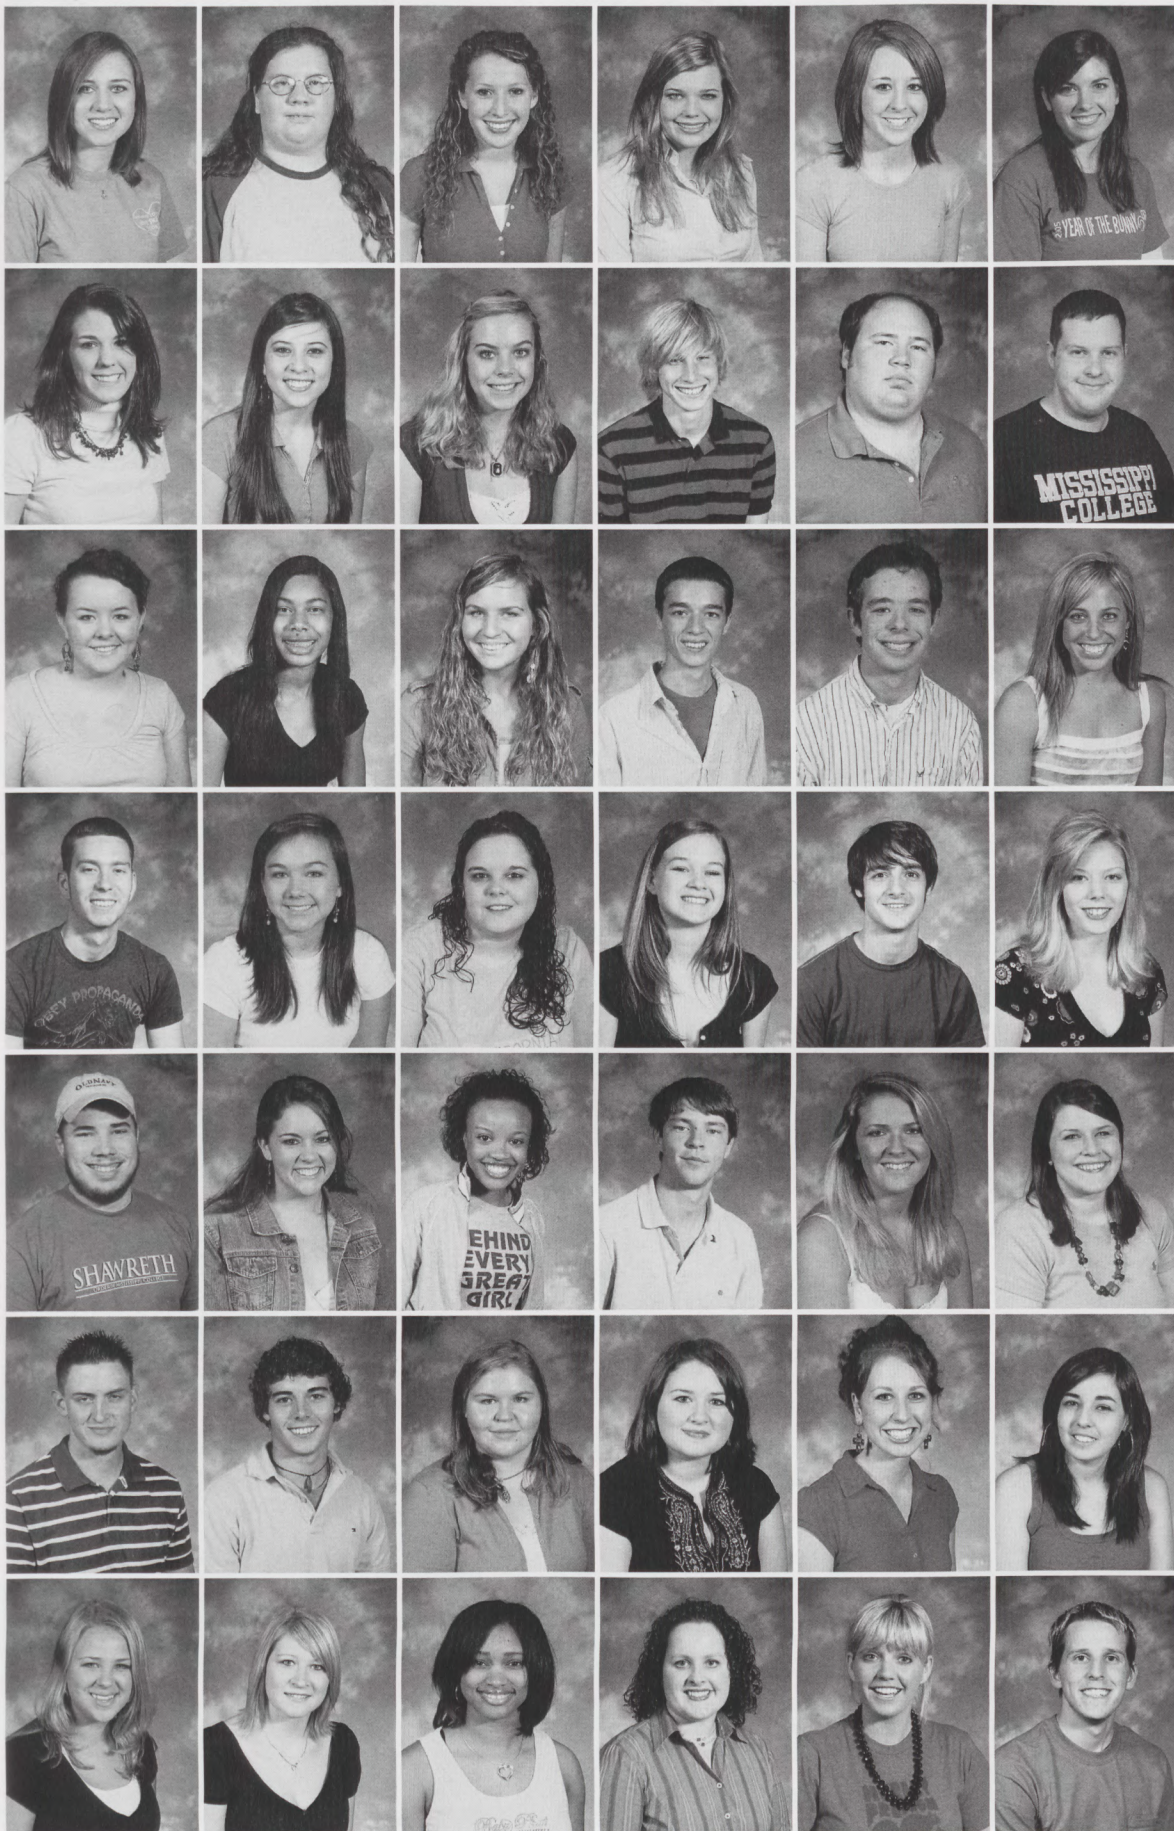

I am a Junior Chemistry major from Terry, Mississippi. I am a double minor in Mathematics and Administration of Justice. On campus, I enjoy being in Laguna Social Tribe, and a justice on the Judicial Council. One of my favorite activities is participating in the Theater program. Last year, I was a flirtacious prop girl in the The Complete Works of William Shakespeare: Abridged. I was also a member of the chorus in the one act, The Pilgrimage. This year during the fall semester, I played Annie, the lead role, in the one act, Spring Dance, by Horton Foote. In the spring semester I will play Sugarbop in William Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew, in addition to being one of the stunt coordinators. I also participated in the homecoming talent show.

Off campus, I enjoy singing in the Morrison Heights College Choir. I also like being outdoors whenever I can. I enjoy fishing and hunting. My main passion outside of school is my training in martial arts. I study Shotokan Karate under Sensei Don Byington in Clinton, Mississippi. I am a brown belt and will receive my black belt in February 2007. I am a member of the Mississippi Karate Association and have participated in 14 tournaments over the past two years including the tournament at MC held in April every year. I enjoy learning weapon application and have learned the bo staff and the nunchukas. From participating in these tournaments, I have earned the title of State Champion and Competitor of the Year for the 2005 and 2006 seasons. I'm in the American Chemical Society for Chemistry, and Alpha Psi Omega for Theatre.

Departments

Art:

MC's art department allows its students to practice their artistic skills and talents while also learning how to apply their skills to their futures. Studio Art, Graphic Design, Art Education and Interior Design are the main areas of study a student can focus on. The hard work and dedication of the students in this department does not go unnoticed as a collection of works of art from each senior student is professionally presented in the Gore Gallery. The Senior Show is one of the most popular exhibitions hosted in the gallery.

Moving into the NEW ART GALLERY!!

Mr. Cook shows off a students work.

Students work on their drawing skills.

Art students work on the pottery wheel.

Business:

Business students hang out in the lounge in Self Hall while another naps on the sofa.

Dr. Price and Dr. Eduardo in the Business department office.

Accounting, Advertising, Entrepreneurship, Investments and Management are the main areas of study for students of the Business department. MC's School of Business provides students with a business mindset, focuses on real-world issues, helps students to think critically and gives each student an understanding of business environments. Throughout the hard work of the program, many internships are available to students which can provide them with both educational and fundamental experience to their futures.

Biology:

The Biology office is hard at work.

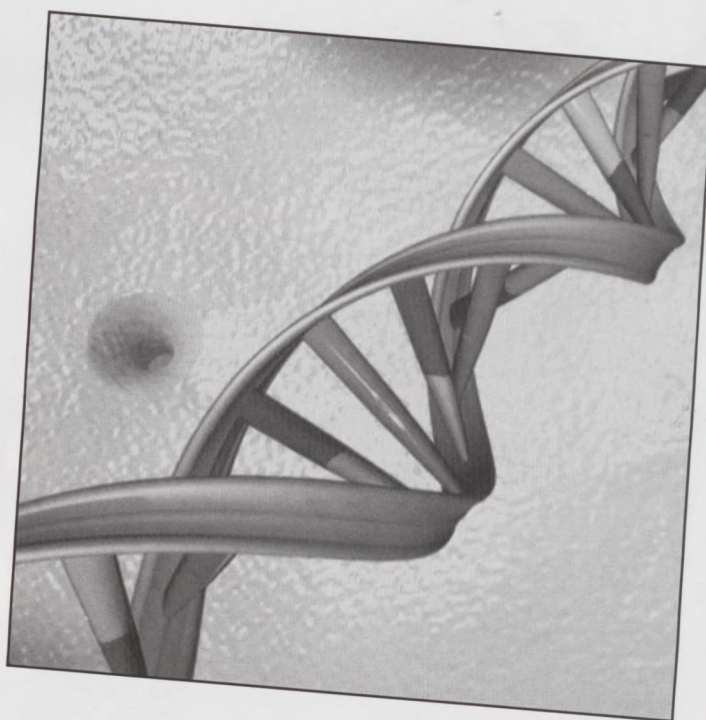

Ben Simpson examines a specimen in the microscope.

Pat Jones and Colin Campbell work with the electron scan machine.

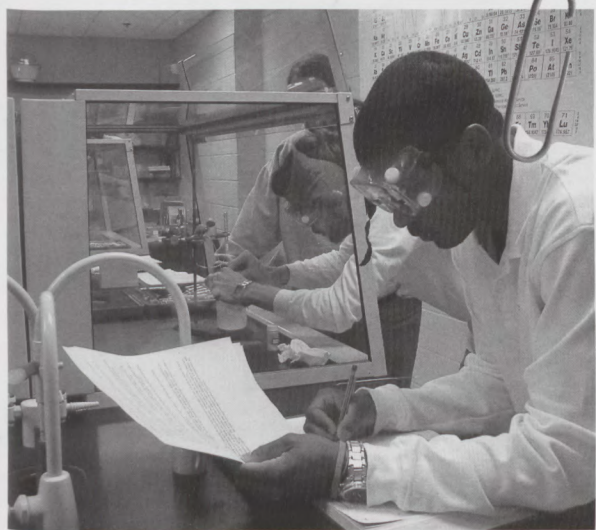

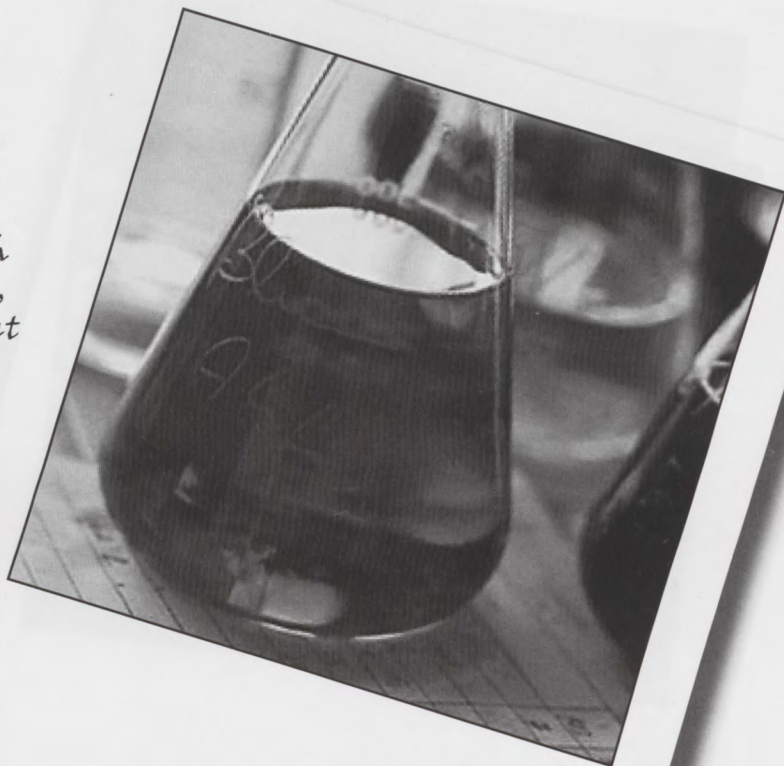

Majoring in Biology at MC is one of the most flexible career paths a student could focus on. With countless hours of lab and research work, a student could further his or her education by performing biological research; or a student could focus on general biology and have any number of career outlets to look at for their future. MC's Biology department focuses to provide scientific education to its students and prepare them for professional and graduate school and postgraduate careers.

Chemistry:

With a fully accredited program by the American Chemical Society, MC's Chemistry department is both challenging and diverse. Specializing in research, the Chemistry department has many specialized lab facilities for its students to work on projects and assignments as well as for their own personal use. One of the more local research opportunities is that of the MC/Tougaloo Research Symposium. Working closely with their mentors, the students involved in the Chemistry department form close bonds with their professors as well as further their academic growth.

Students perform lab experiments.

Dr. Magers takes a moment to pose for a photo in the middle of his busy schedule.

Christian Studies:

The department of Christian Studies at MC offers studies in the areas of Bible, Biblical Languages, Ministry Studies and Philosophy. Christian Studies courses have been part of the MC curriculum as evidenced by the publication of the first school catalog of 1852. Those called to further their education in Christian Studies learn not only of biblical knowledge but of practical, life applications of the Scripture.

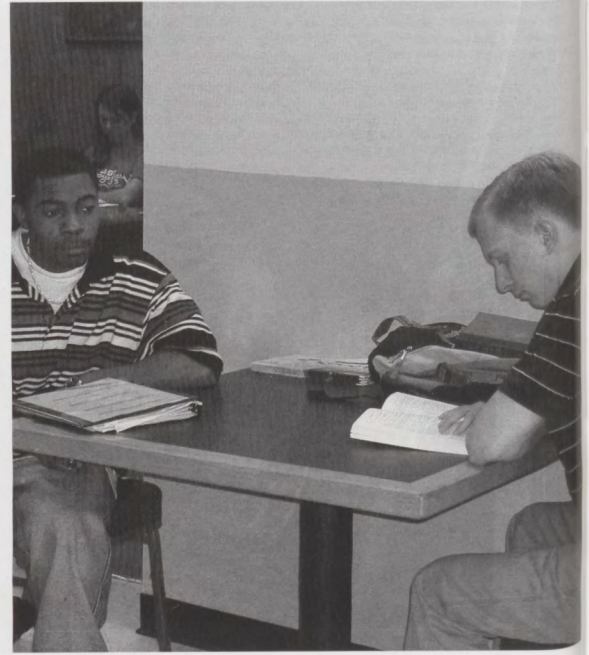

Dr. Mahaffey and Dr. Johnson pose for a quick picture before class.

Dr. Parke discusses Biblical history in his Wisdom and Poetic Literature class.

Lynda Street works hard to ensure that the office runs smoothly.

Students study in the hallway of Provine Chapel between classes.

Communications:

The on-campus radio station, Star 93.5, the campus newspaper, The Collegian, theatrical productions and the speech and debate teams are just a few things the Communications department offers students at MC. Hard work and dedication of the students of the Communications department is evaluated and presented to both professors and professionals in their senior portfolios. The courses available in the Communications department use activities designed to build personal skills in each area of concentration in the Communications field.

Students read over play bills during Acting Class.

Dr. Nicholas and Mrs. Vicki Williams discuss communications business.

Heather Peevy hosts her radio show.

Education:

The MC School of Education provides the general education, professional studies, field and clinical experiences, research, skill development, and technological foundation required for MC's future educators. From hours of studying to hours of student teaching, the Education department provides its students with the knowledge and skills needed in a professional environment while meeting local, state and national performance standards.

Students discuss teaching methods before class.

Students observe and help children in the observation lab.

Dr. Melton and Dr. Duren chat in the hallway with a student.

Students are always making presentations to their classmates in the Education department.

English:

MC's English department has its students study the best of English, American, and World literature from a Christian perspective. The faculty of the department seeks to keep students involved in their field of study and encouraging them to discuss and write about the literature studied in their classes. The Arrowhead, a student publication hosted by the English department seeks to further this cause by showcasing both artistic and literary submissions of MC students.

Dr. James Everett, Dr. Lee Harding, Dr. Kerri Jordan, Susan Lassiter, Dr. David Miller, Dr. James Potts, Dr. Jonathan Randle and Cynthia Tucker

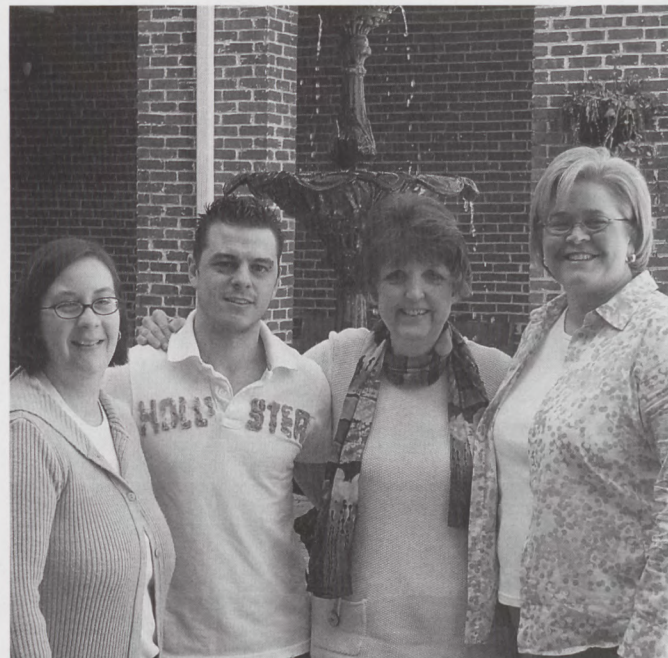

English professors devote time to helping students understand the material fully.

Dr. Randle is a fierce Literature professor!

Foreign Language:

Dr. Pierce opens a gift from students during a party.

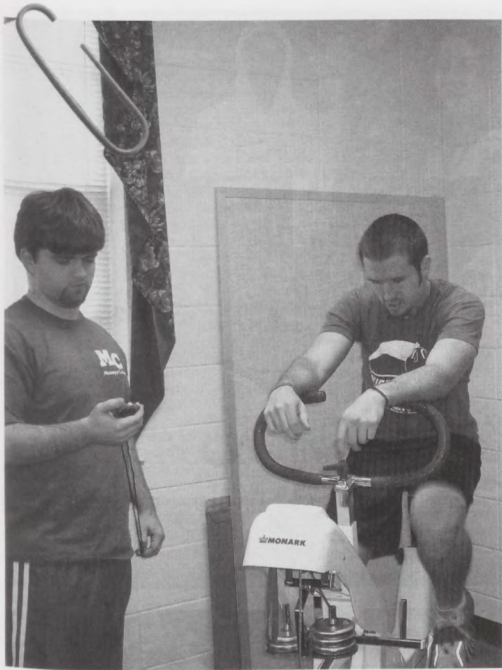

International students enjoy the festivities at the Coffee House.

The foreign language department hosted a coffee house in the Piazza for all students.

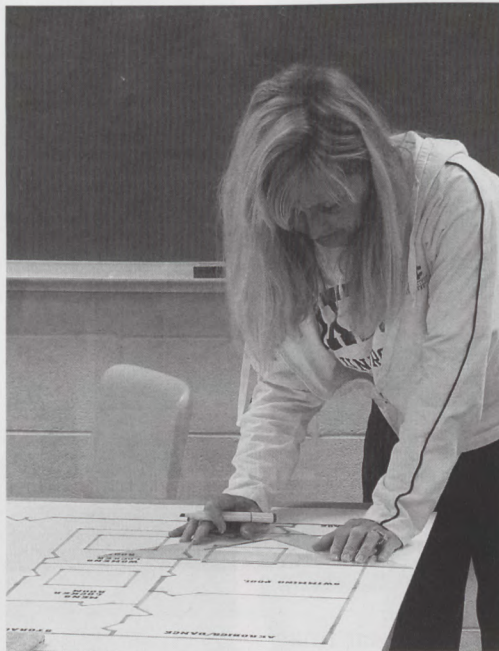

The purpose of the Foreign Language department at MC is to acquaint students with a culture, a language and a literature other than their own. The teachers in the Foreign Language department have focuses in the languages of French, German, Greek, Japanese and Spanish. Hosting the International Program is just one of the offers of the Foreign Language department. The department also hosts the Study Abroad program in which students are given the opportunity to travel to a foreign country and experience different cultures and histories.

Kinesiology:

Kinesiology students are always on the bike!

Carol Barnes prepares her classroom for the students.

Students also learn to take blood pressure.

Learning how to do CPR!

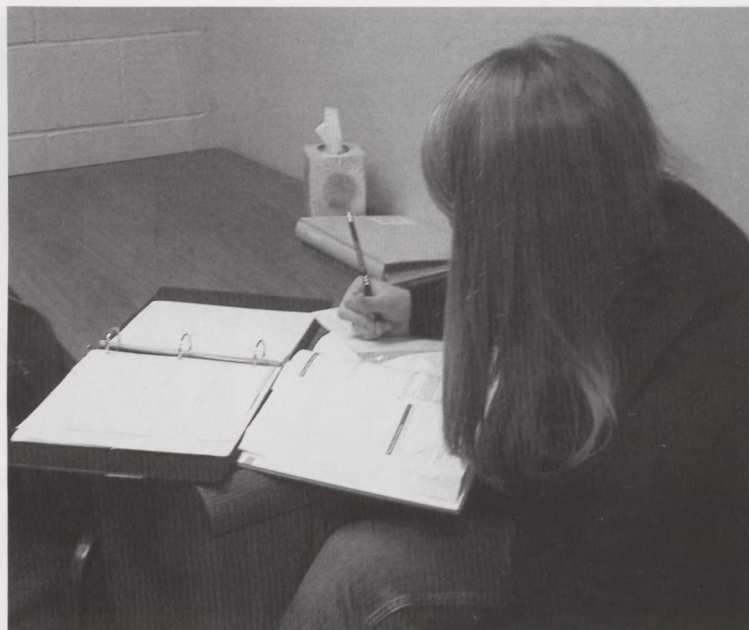

The Kinesiology department focuses on the total development of each student through the physical, intellectual, mental, social, emotional, and spiritual dimensions of health. The department also promotes healthy lifestyle alternatives for its students and provides the skills and services that lead to more productive and satisfying lives. With the study of Kinesiology the students in the department are given opportunities for careers in a variety of areas including school physical education, community, worksite and hospital wellness, and the sports and fitness industry.

Mathematics:

Emily White works hard in the math lab.

Dr. McMath is all smiles as he takes a walk across campus.

The MC department of Mathematics aims to effectively teach the study of mathematics to its students and provide a framework which provides occupational advances and opportunities for their futures. Every Spring the Mathematics department is one of the hosting departments of the Statewide Science and Math Tournament held here at MC. After graduation, many of the Mathematics department's students obtain positions with companies in telecommunications, governmental and engineering while many others seek teaching certificates.

Music:

The Music department at MC is one of the largest on campus. From this Fall's musical production of The King and I and the Christmas show Festival of Lights performed by the MC Singers, the Music department provides many outlets of entertainment for both students and faculty. MC Singers and Chorale as well as several Bands are just a few of the outlets a Music major can be a part of. Along with the many outlets for a student in the Music department comes many opportunities. MC's students in the Music department have traveled all over the state and have even gone to Carnegie Hall!

The MC Singers practicing hard in Aven Hall.

Carol Joy Sparkman plays the piano as the students sing during practice.

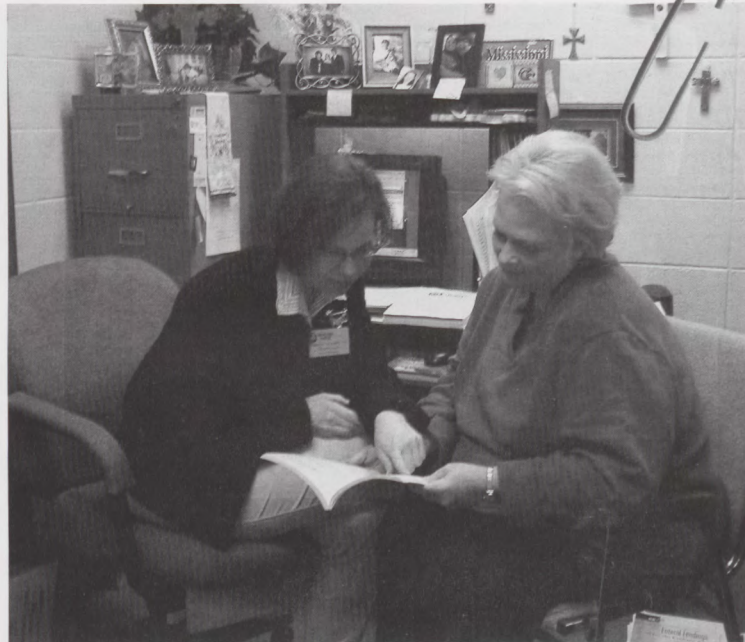

Mixed Company is one of MC's prestigious music groups.

Nursing:

First semester Nursing students take a break to run outside for a quick photo.

Beth Twiner and Teresa Jarnigin discuss some potential test questions.

Students practice taking blood pressure.

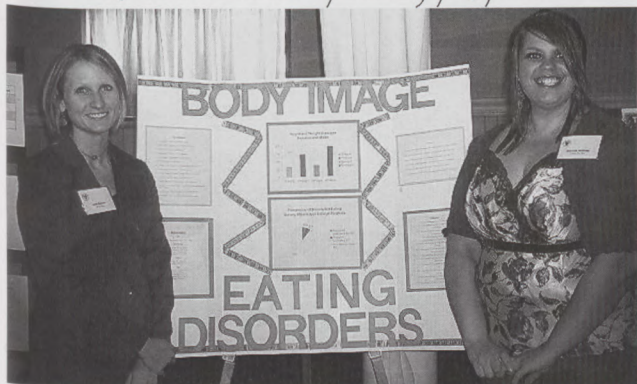

The Nursing program at MC strives to be a provider of health and wellness for not only the mind and body but also, the spirit. All of MC's nursing students are members of the Mississippi Student Nurses' Association (MSNA), which is the student nurse professional organization.

Students in the Nursing department also volunteer at Stewpot Ministry and at various health fairs throughout the community, as well as giving flu shots to students on campus. The Nursing department even hosted a mission trip to Mexico this summer for it's students get another hands on opportunity as well as share their faith with others.

Psychology:

The Psychology department at MC provides its students with a balance of educational and mental growth. The Department also prepares its students for further educational opportunities working within mental and behavioral health settings. Many of the Psychology department students can be found performing research and working closely with professors perfecting projects. Experimental Psychology poster presentations in the cafeteria, the Mississippi Psychological Association, South-Eastern Psychological Association as well as the MC/Tougaloo Research Symposium are all outlets available to students in the Psychology department.

Leah Beth Carrier and Amanda Holliday presented their research at the Mississippi Psychological Association convention in Jackson.

Fish projects are a way of life for anyone taking Psychology of Learning.

Lindsey Webb presented research at the Southeastern Psychological Association conference in New Orleans, La.

Meredith Shows, Ashley Brown and Melissa Fulton present their research in the cafeteria.

Sociology:

MC's department of Sociology endeavors to aid students' exploration of self, the social environment, and the interaction between individual and community through examination of culture, social organization, and human personality. The department of Sociology also encompasses the department of Social Work and a global perspective is infused throughout the department's programs of study. Nurturing an individual within their society whilst being fair and just is one of the main goals of the Sociology and Social Work departments.

It was so cold during the Christmas holidays that the fountain froze!

The Tribesman:

The Tribesman staff strives to put together a "memory book" of sorts to hopefully help each student recount the past year in year at MC. The tasks range from fun, like taking pictures of friends doing the weirdest things, to daunting, such as making layouts unique and cohesive, and attempting to identify everyone in the book. However, the staff has persevered to keep up the standards of excellence set before them by those in the past, and has met the task head-on, hoping that this yearbook is the best that you have seen yet. Enjoy!

Staff included: Jessica Niemeyer, Amanda Holliday, Kelly Shoemake, Lindsey Webb, Erica Chisolm, Evan Mumbower and Kourtney Wong

Robert Gatewood joined the staff later in the fall semester as a designer.

Advisor Dr. James Potts, Robert Gatewood, Kelly Shoemake and Jessica Neimeyer give a grin after a hard days work.

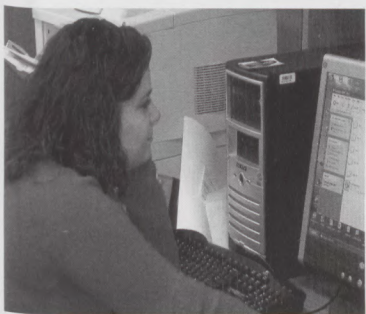

Amber Paulson and Kelly Shoemake take a moment to smile for the camera during a work session.

The Collegian:

Kate Russell works diligently on pages.

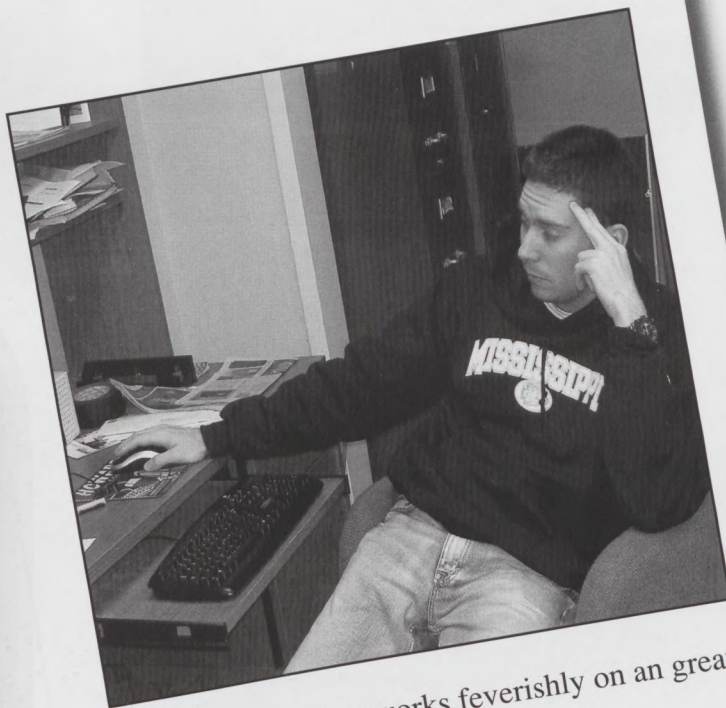

Katy Kash ponders a story as she works.

Staff includes: Melissa Fulton, Michael Pounders, Dylan McLemore, Abby Knight, Lauren Armstrong, Kate Russell, Alea Franklin, and Maggie Burks

The Mississippi Collegian is the campus-wide newspaper which is published bi-weekly. The staff works hard to inform the students of MC about vital international and national news, but most importantly about what is going on around campus. When new policies are put into place, new projects are proposed, or when new opportunities arise for students, the Collegian is there to keep the students in the know. They also report on our sports teams' progress throughout the season, and lastly, they present a forum of sorts for regular students to have their say. There is an opinions page and there is also an "Issue for the Issue" page where two students get to debate a controversial issue.

Michael Pounders works feverishly on an great issue of the collegian.

Arrowhead:

Katie Sheppard works hard reading literary entries.

Staff includes: Katie Sheppard, Sara Stone, Beth Roper and Ying Lin.

The Arrowhead Creative Arts magazine is an annual publication comprised of literary and visual artworks created by the students of Mississippi College and submitted to the editors who send the pieces to be judged. Each sub-category for both genres (i.e. short story, photography, essay, etc.) has three prize winners whose winning submissions are placed in the book along with other submissions selected by the editors. For the 2006-7 issue due out in April, the Editor-in-Chief and Literary Editor is Sara Stone, a senior English major from Lexington, KY, and the Assistant Literary Editor is last year's Editor-in-Chief, Beth Roper, a senior English major from Jackson, MS. The Art Editor is Katie Sheppard, who held the title last year as well, a senior Graphic Design major from Monroe, LA, and the Assistant Art Editor is Ying Lin. The professorial sponsors are Dr. Jonathan Randle and Steve Cook.

Sara Stone looks over pictures while in a meeting.

RUSH:

At the beginning of each new Fall semester, each new potential pledge is invited to the Meet IT/ISEC Bash. There, each service club and social tribe is represented full force in attempts to show their uniqueness and sister and brotherhoods with one another to the new faces at Mississippi College. There is live music and catered food and tons of fun and laughter!

Coke Parties Sept. 18 - 19
Coke parties for the girls of MC are ways for each member of the social tribes to interact in a group setting, yet one-on-one with the new girls. Freshman and transfers are ushered into rooms full of signature colors of blue, green, pink, and red; and are welcomed with bright smiles and friendly "hello"s. Information is given about each tribe and for the next two nights, a group of diverse girls will bond with one another and get to know their future Sisters even better.

Meet & Greet
 This night is held the night before pref day in which all potential pledges go around to each President, Vice President and actives rooms to meet them one-on-one, get to know them a little better and fill out their signature cards. After this night, the girls have important decisions to make as the next day is PREF DAY!

Girl's Rush Skits Sept. 21 - 22
 To get an even better feel of the personalities of the tribes at MC, the active members of each tribe perform skits for both potential pledges and friends to enjoy. In the weeks before the skits, actives of each tribe spent tireless hours planning and practicing their lines and dances. Their hard work paid off though as all in attendance had a great time!

RUSH:

*Pref Day / Squeal Night
This is the day that the girls get to decide which tribe they would like to be in! Pref cards are filled out and the following night is Squeal Night which is so exciting because that is when the girls find out which tribe they got in!*

*Men's Rush Parties Sept. 26
Following the excitement of the Girls'
Rush is the Mens' Rush in which they meet the different service clubs on campus and decide which one they want to become a part of. Though Mens' Rush is much shorter than the Girls', they both follow a pretty similar "agenda" and that's when the fun and excitement begins!*

Pinning
The final step before becoming an active in any club or tribe is being pinned. Pinning ceremonies are special to both pledges and actives. Big Sisses and Brothers pin their Little Sisses and Brothers in seperate ceremonies and FINALLY the pledges get to become actives!

Follies Oct. 13
FOLLIES! Man oh' man how everyone looks forward to follies! Pledges, actives, family members and faculty and staff alike enjoy coming out to see the hard work the pledges have put in to putting on a great show of skits for everyone. Civitan did such an awesome job this year in doing reenactments of the popular treadmills in the OK Go video and the popularity of Facebook that they placed first in the Follies competition!

From the Tribesman Staff:

*Lindsey Webb
Co-Editor*

*Amanda Holliday
Co-Editor*

This is the hardest part of being the Co-Editor. Well, maybe not! But it is hard for me to sum up the experience of being a Co-Editor of the Tribesman this year. We have worked hard to bring the students, faculty and staff of MC a yearbook that is worthy of showing off. I hope that this year's staff has achieved that. We tried to include all that we could within the time limit we were given. I hope that you have found the inclusion of some new and interesting aspects to be enjoyable. It has been a great learning experience for me, one that I would not trade, despite all the times I wished I could give up. I wish to thank the Publications Council, Dr. Potts, Mrs. Vicki, the staff, and everyone who contributed photos including students, Chris Brooks, Michael Pounders, Amber Paulson for her drawings and others. I also want to thank all of the people that encouraged me and helped me to persevere through this year. And a big thanks to my friend and Co-Editor, Amanda! I hope that you enjoy "The Journal" and the memories it contains of the 2006-2007 school year here at Mississippi College!

Working as a co-editor for this year's Tribesman has been such an honor. Though the job has not always been easy, almost surprisingly, I do not wish things differently than they panned out. I have learned a lot about myself with this experience and have been able to grow with what I learned. However, I could not have done it alone. Without Lindsey as my co-editor, I would not have been able to stand on my own. This year's staff faced many challenges and I am thankful that despite them all we were able to persevere. Many countless hours went in to the making of the book you now hold. It is my hope that the devotion of the Tribesman staff echoes as you turn the pages; and you are able to relive many memories.

"I hope that everyone has enjoyed looking through this yearbook and remembering all the fun and exciting memories everyone experienced this year. It has been an honor and a pleasure serving on the Tribesman staff this year. Many late nights and walks around campus for pictures went into the making of this yearbook. I would like to say a special thanks to our editors Lindsey and Amanda for all of their hard work. Throughout the year, the yearbook staff has lots of fun during those late nights in Farr Hall. I hope that the 101st edition of The Tribesman, "the students yearbook", will always remain with everyone so that one day we can all look back and remember the great time we had at Mississippi College."

- Robert Gatewood, Graphic Designer

"It has been an honor to be a part of the yearbook staff. I have enjoyed working with all of the staff members this year. I know that all of our late nights and hard work have paid off in order to make this a great yearbook. I designed my layouts with the students of Mississippi College in mind. The 101st volume of the Tribesman was meant to be the students' yearbook—one that would be the most personal and memorable. Thanks to everyone who helped make this publication possible!"

- Kourtney Wong, Graphic Designer

"Working on the Tribesman was a wonderful and certainly a memorable experience. Before the fall semester began we were hard at work, brainstorming and creating the first pages of the 2007 yearbook. As classes began time was quickly cut in half. Our gleaming excitement turned to anticipation and sometimes even confusion. I learned that I had to maintain my earlier determination and set priorities in order to meet deadlines. It was definitely not an easy job, but I learned a great deal and had an incredible time creating a book of which I am proud."

- Erica Chisolm, Graphic Designer

"Working on the annual staff has been an experience I will not soon forget. Many late nights, last minute details and deadlines, and lots of stress have encompassed my time on the staff, but I know that it has been well worth it to produce a great memory book for us all. Enjoy!"

- Jessica Niemeyer, Copy Writer
